THE AGRICULTURAL SCHEDULE UPSET

Equalization of Raw and Finished Products Presents a Problem.

THE PRESIDENT INTERESTED

Proposal to Eliminate Duty Provision Leaving Cattle, Sheep, Hogs and Wheat on Unrestricted Free List—Amendments

Washington, June 16.—The much-mooted agricultural schedule of the Underwood tariff bill was suddenly upset again by the majority members of the Senate Finance committee late today when a motion was made to reconsider action taken earlier in the dap approving the free-listing of livestock and wheat, subject to a countervailing duty.

The proposal now is to strike out the provision for a countervailing duty and leave cattle, sheep, hogs and wheat on the free list unrestricted. Members of the committee said tonight that this probably would be done by the majority. No reason for the change was announced.

For weeks the equalization of agricultural raw products and finished products, which were differentiated in the Underwood bill, has been a problem for the Democratic Senators in which President Wilson has taken an active interest.

Meats and Flour

The House put meats and flour on the free list, leaving livestock and grains dutiable at ten per cent ad valorem and ten cents a bushel, respectievly. The Senate Finance sub-committee, soon after receiving the schedule, agreed to equalize the rates, and eventually voted to make the raw materials and the finished products all dutiable. No sooner had this conclusion been reached than Senator Simmons and other Democratic members of the Finance committee determined that the problem would not be settled rightly if left that way. They were of the opinion that all products which enter into the cost of living should go on the free list, and President Wilson agreed with them.

Senator Simmons communicated this information to the sub-committee, and it re-considered its action, placing all these products on the free list. Later it was announced that the committee would add a countervailing duty clause which would make the products free only from countries which did not make them dutiable from this country. This would operate against the free entry of livestock from such countries as Canada and the Argentine.

Free List Enlarged

The committee today further enlarged the free list by voting to take hemp and ramie from the dutiable list. The Underwood bill rates on flax were from one to one and one-half cents per pound and on hemp and ramie from one-half to one cent per pound, according to grade. It was argued that these products should class with other products of the farm, and that by free-listing them the cost of living might be beneficially affected. Rates on finished products from these materials were materially reduced.

It also was decided not to consider the amendment proposed by Senator Hitchcock which would provide a graduated revenue tax on the output of tobacco. This amendment followed suggestions made by Attorney General McReynolds, but which the administration did not see fit to endorse at this time.

Bananas, which have never been subject to a tariff tax, were put on the dutiable list by action of the committee. To encourage American growers was given as the reason.

Citrus Fruit Rates

Despite many protests against the cuts in the citrus fruit rates made in the House bill, the Senate committee left the schedule as it was. No change was made in the liquor schedule but it was left open for amendment. Senator Pomerene asking to be heard tomorrow on the matter.

Washington, June 16.—The Supreme Court today affirmed the decision of the Supreme Court of Arizona, upholding the right of William A. Gillespie to water, for his irrigated land, free from contamination from the reducing plant of the Arizona Copper Company at Clifton, Ariz., 25 miles above him on the Gila river. The copper company will be allowed to complete its plant provided it installs apparatus to stop the contamination.

PROBING SUGAR INTERESTS

"Father of Beet Industry" Principal Witness Before Investigating Committee—Other Men Spring a

Library of Congress,

Washington, June 16.—Henry L. Oxnard, known as the "father of the beet industry," and the vice-president of the American Beet Sugar Company, was the principal witness today before the Senate lobby investigating committee.

Mr. Oxnard was on the stand for several hours, and proved an entertaining witness. He told the committee how New York bankers who helped to organize the beet sugar company, insisted upon putting in about $15,000,000 "water" in that $20,000,000 corporation; how he and his brothers had made about a million by the sale of much of their share of this watered stock, and gave warning that the Underwood bill, with its free sugar provision, would result, in his opinion, in the formation of a new "sugar trust," which would not violate the anti-trust law.

The committee took Mr. Oxnard over most of the ground that other anti-free sugar witnesess have covered. He told them that he received $10,000 a year in his official capacity, but that it was not for "legislative work. The questioners learned that he had been fighting reductions in sugar duties for many years, and heard with interest that he knew something about "sugar at a glance," the celebrated pamphlet that was made a Senate document, and sent over the counery postage free under the frank of Senator Lodge.

Committee Gets a Surprise.

The committee got a surprise today when A. Y. More, owner of the Fargo, North Dakota, Courier-News and A. M. Baker, general manager of that paper, gave their testimony about an editorial recently printed in the News, which Senator Gronna thought was a reflection upon him, and which led to their being subpoenaed. Both men made the long trip to Washington in answer to the Senate summons, and then declared under oath that they knew nothing of the editorial until they saw it in print. It was written, they said, by James A. Metcalfe, of Glendive, Montana, temporarily employed while Baker was away from Fargo. Both More and Baker said they had no reason to doubt Senator Gronna's political and private integrity and honesty, and More said that a retraction might be printed. Metcalfe had written the editorial, they thought, merely in a flippant way.

Additional Evidence.

Another witness was Hiran Gove of Denver, employed at $5,000 a year by the Gerat Western Sugar Company, who said he had given up the last eight years to a study of the economic side of sugar, and to convincing Congressmen of the soundness of his views for a duty on that article. Mr. Gove testified that before his employment by the sugar company he had been superintendent of schools of Denver.

Although the thermometer outside the committee room was trying hard to step over the 100 mark, and two electric fans were kept busy all day long in an endeavor to make a cool spot in the surrounding heat. Mr. Gove sat for half an hour in the witness chair with an overcoat over his knees. He had not talked with many Senators, he said, but he remembered a dinner with Senator Bristow, at which he had tried to convince the Senator of the necessity of the "Dutch standard" in sugar. Instead of convincing Mr. Bristow, he explained, he came away convinced that the Dutch standard" was unnecessary. Twice in eight years he had appeared before committees of Congress, and he had delivered addresses before various organizations on the sugar question.

"Sugar at a Glance."

Harry Austin, employed by Truman G. Palmer, the Washington representative of the United States beet industry, was the last witness. The committee spent nearly two hours in an attempt to find out just what happened to "Sugar at a Glance," after the Senate ordered much of the material in it printed as a public document and its actual appearance in a pamphlet form. They endeavored to find out what he knew about an alleged order of the Senate regarding the printing of this pamphlet, which does not appear in Senate records, but is printed on the title page of "Sugar at a Glance." The best information Austin could give was that his order which has aroused the indignation of the committee must nave appeared in proofs received at Palmer's office from the government printing office Officials of that office have already explained to the committee that they knew nothing about his order, but they have not been put upon the stand. They probably will be heard later.

DEPUTY SHERIFF KILLED

Stabbed to Death by Negro Whom He Attempted to Arrest

Atlanta, Ga., June 16.—David S. Yancey, a special deputy sheriff, was stabbed to death today in a desperate encounter with Eugene Watson, a negro whom Yancey was trying to arrest for snatching a pocket book. Watson, pursued by Yancey, took refuge under a house in the rear of 303 Rawson street. Yancey fired two shots from his revolver at the negro, wounding him in the leg, when suddenly Watson rushed from under the house and grappled with Yancey, stabbing him repeatedly, until the deputy fell over dead.

Watson then fled to a cellar several blocks away where he finally surrendered to a squad of policemen after he had been badly wounded.

COMPLAINT LODGED.

Mexicans Protest Against Action of Consul at Matamoras.

Washington, June 16.—A complaint has been lodged with the State Department by the Mexican embassy against the American consul at Matamoras, Mexico. The Huerta government claims he urged the band of the Sixth Mexican cavalry, which recently fled from Matamoras and took refuge at Brownsville, Texas, to return to Matamoras, extending to them from Gen. Blanco, the Carranzista chief, a promise of immunity. At Brownsville, members of the band were treated by the United States authorities as non-combatants.

DECISION RESTS WITH THE PEOPLE

Underwood Makes the Statement After Conferring With the President

LEGISLATION ON CURRENCY

"Sovereign Voice" Must Say Whether Present Session of Congress Shall Consider the Monetary Problem.

Washington, June 16.—Public opinion, the sovereign voice in law-making, is to decide whether there shall be currency legislation during the present session of Congress, this was the view which Representative Oscar Underwood, the Democratic leader in the House, took after a conference with President Wilson at the White House today.

In the face of conflicting expressions from prominent Democrats in Congress as to the necessity for currency reform during the present session, it is the avowed purpose of the administration to launch a currency bill in the House and Senate before Friday of this week, which will be accompanied or followed by the President's message describing what he believes to be the necessity for banking reform. Then, according to Mr. Underwood, the plan of the House will be to rest on its oars, thoroughly discuss the new banking proposals, and await the expression of the newspapers of the country, and the opinion of bankers and business men generally as to the merits of the Democratic proposals.

Should the discussion of the bill in Congress be backed up by an insistent demand from the country at large for an immediate revision of the currency system, it is the belief of the administration that Senators and Congressmen will yield their pleas of personal discomfort in the approaching hot weather.

The President's Attitude.

The President believes strongly that the country will back him up in his views that the currency system ought to be reformed so as to alleviate any stringency that might follow the passage of the tariff bill. Representative Underwood after his conference with the President, said that while the Democratic party had made up its mind what ought to be done on the tariff, currency reform was practically a new question, and it would be impossible to predict how long the House would take for a discussion of the bill. It would take some time, he added, for members to hear from their home communities. He would not venture a guess as to whether approval or disapproval of the bill could be reported in a month or longer, and took the position that the currency situation could only be solved by the attitude which the nation revealed when the bill was debated thoroughly.

The Administration's Views.

Meantime, Secretary McAdoo, Chairmen Owen and Glass, of the Senate and House Banking Currency committees, today finished the bill that represents the administration's views. It went to the printer tonight and Representative Glass was of the opinion that it probably would be presented Friday. There has been no decision as to whether the President will read his message to Congress in advance of the introduction of the bill or afterward. This point probably will be determined tomorrow.

The bill in its present form embraces a system of regional reserve with local governing boards, all under control of a Federal reserve board of nine members at Washington. Elasticity of the currency is to be secure through the issuance of United States notes to these reserve associations and by them to the local banks upon adequate security, including commercial paper of a qualified class. The local banks making up each reserve association will be required to keep a specified amount of their reserves in the association vaults.

No present issues of treasury notes or gold or silver certificates are to be disturbed by the new currency, but the bill would require the gradual retirement of all National bank notes within a maximum period of 20 years. The new currency system would become operative July 1, 1914.

The President's message, written first in shorthand and transcribed by himself on the same little typewriter on which he wrote both his inaugural addresses and his tariff message, was also sent to the printer tonight. It will be read to the cabinet tomorrow.

A more conciliatory spirit toward the currency plan prevailed among members of the House committee today following a visit to the White House by Representative Phelan, of Massachusetts, one of the members. Several of the members of the committee who have felt that they should be consulted with or advised regarding the currency while so many conferences were in progress, talked among themselves with a view to securing party harmony.

STATE HEALTH ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting Opened Yesterday at Morehead City With Address by Dr. Glenn—Dr. Rankin Discusses Quarantine.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Atlantic Hotel, Morehead City, N. C., June 16.—The North Carolina Health Officers' Association met this morning at 9 o'clock, with an address by President L. N. Glenn, of Gastonia.

The main topic of Dr. Glenn's address was the opportunity of the organized medical society along educational lines in the prevention of disease. Dr. Glenn pointed out how Gaston county doctors had arranged and delivered in the public schools a series of lectures on sanitation that have been of great assistance in developing the public intelligence on public health subjects.

A discussion on quarantine was opened by Dr. W. S. Rankin, secretary of the association. The main ideas advanced were that quarantine in the past 25 years had had little effect upon the mortality of contagious diseases, that the reason for this was that the people and profession had misunderstood the true nature of contagions, that recent discoveries have shown diseases to be carried in many ways, and that the prevention of the contagions, giving less attention to the idea of air infection, and more attention to infection brought about by other methods, was the modern plan.

The association continued in session during the evening and will finish early tomorrow morning. There is a large attendance of county and city officers, health officers, mayors, chairmen, boards of county commissioners, members of boards of health, and others interested.

The State Health Officers' Association will be followed by the meeting of the Medical Society of the State of North Carolina, which convenes tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, with Dr. J. Peter Munroe, of Charlotte, as president and Dr. John A. Ferrell, of Raleigh, secretary. Among other things of importance that will take place is the election of two members of the State Board of Health for a term of six years to succeed Dr. Dave T. Taylor, of Washington, and Dr. J. E. Ashcraft, of Monroe. The election will take place early tomorrow morning.

This is a very important position, especially in this day when so much attention is being paid to public health problems, but no mistake can be made as there are numerous capable physicians to select from.

Dr. S. W. Battle, Surgeon General of the State Guard, and Gen. L. W. Young, adjutant general, are here looking into the water supply and other conditions affecting the sanitation of Camp Glenn, preparatory to their annual encampment here this Summer.

The police are searching for an unknown woman who is said to have accompanied Mrs. Kittles to the doctor's office.

Dr. Brinkley, who was about 45 years old and unmarried, came here about seven years ago from Suffolk, Va. He was popular socially and professionally. Mrs. Kittles was the daughter of a Savannah boarding house keeper. No cause has been assigned for the tragedy.

RATE CASES UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT

Adheres to Principles Laid Down in Minnesota Decision.

APPROVES STATE STATUTES

Important Reductions in Passenger and Freight Rates on Many Western Railroads Will Result from Decisions

Washington, June 16.—Without varying a dot from the principles laid down last week in the Minnesota rate cases, the Supreme Court of the United States today upheld State railroad rate legislation in Missouri, Arkansas, Oregon and West Virginia.

This legislation included two-cent passenger laws in Missouri, Arkansas and West Virginia; maximum rate laws in Missouri and Arkansas; and freight rates out of Portland in the Oregon cases. The only exception to the sweeping approval of State statutes was in the case of several weaker roads in Missouri. The Kentucky case was not decided. It involves an attack upon State rates from river points to inland distillery cities, and involves, in addition, an attack on the constitutionality of the form of the McChord act, enabling the State Railroad Commission to fix reasonable rates on intra-State business. A decision in this case may be forthcoming when the court meets again in October.

Justice Hughes announced the decision in the rate case today. Wherever the point was raised that the State laws interfered with inter-State commerce, the justice referred to his Minnesota rate decision. He disappointed any who believed the court might in some way modify that decision.

"We need not review the arguments addressed to conditions of transportation in Missouri and the relation of intra-State to inter-State rates," he said, "for while the case has its special facts by reason of location of the State, and the use of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers as basing points in rate-making the controlling question thus presented with reference to the authority of the State to prescribe reasonable intra-State rates throughout its territory, unless limited by the exercise on the part of Congress of its constitutional power over inter-State commerce and its instruments, is not to be distinguished in any material respect from that what was considered and decided in the Minnesota rate cases."

The Oregon and West Virginia cases were decided in favor of the State in a few words, the only point raised by the railroads being that laws interfered with inter-State commerce.

Justice Hughes went fully into an examination of claims in the Missouri and Kansas cases that the property of railroads devoted to intra-State business would be confiscated.

The Lines Affected

As a result of the State rates will become operative on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad; the Atchison, Topeka and aSnta Fe; the Kansas City Southern; the Missouri, Kansas and Texas; the Chicago, Rock-Island and Pacific (including the St. Louis, Kansas City and Colorado); the St. Louis and San Francisco; the St. Louis, South Western; the Missouri Pacific; the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern; the Wabash; the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and the Chicago and Alton.

For the present the rates will not become operative on the St. Louis and Hannibal; the Kansas City, Clinton and Springfield; the Chicago Great Western; the Quincy, Omaha and Kansas City, and the St. Joseph and Grand Island.

Valuation of Property

The court refused to accept the valuation placed upon railroads in Missouri by the State's assessing board as a basis for fixing the "fair value" for figuring whether the rates confiscated property. Justice Hughes took the case of the Burlington, and showed that by applying the assessment value (multiplied three times as was done by the Federal Court in Missouri), to the whole system result would be obtained $115,000,00 0in excess of the capitalization of the system. Besides, he said, there was nothing to show upon what the essessors fixed their valuation, nor was it demonstrated that the assessors avoided the mistakes criticised in the Minnesota rate decision.

"Manifestly a finding of confiscation could not be based on such a valuation in the absence of clear and convincing proof that the value actually existed and that the different items of property were estimated respectively by correct methods and in accordance with proper criteria of value," said Justice Hughes. "This proof was lacking. In the case of the other roads, although the special considerations which have been mentioned with respect to the Burlington property may not be applicable, still we are left in uncertainty as to the correctness of specific valuations which have been made."

Apportionment of preporeyt values between inter-State and intra-State passenger and freight traffic, according to gross revenue, was disapproved for "reasons stated in the Minnesota rate cases.

Apportionment of Expenses

Coming to an apportionment of expenses, Justice Hughes said the plan adopted by the lower court of applying the revenue basis was open to the same objection as in the Minnesota cases.

However, as to the St. Louis and Hannibal and the Kansas City, Clinton and Springfield, he said the experts of both the State and the railroads united in stating no basis could be found upon which the proposed rates would yield an adequate return. As to the Chicago Great Western, he said, the errors of valuation and apportionment were not sufficient to warrant a reversal of the finding of the lower court that the rates were confiscatory. The rates as to the Quincy, Omaha and Kansas City and the St. Joseph and Grand Island were annulled because of a stipulation between the State and railroads that the finding as to the Chicago Great Western should control them.

ALLEGED GAMBLERS ARRESTED

Many Baseball Fans Denied Admission to New York Polo Grounds. Crusade Against Betting. Arrests in Philadelphia.

New York, June 16.—A large number of men whom the management alleges have been laying odds on the baseball games at the Polo grounds, were denied admission to the baseball park for the New York-Detroit American League game today. It is estimated 150 of them were not permitted to pass the turnstiles, and that 50 others who had evaded the watchfulness of detectives at the gates later were ordered from the grandstand.

It is said that recently the baseball authorities have had detectives circulating in the stands to watch for bettors, and today's debarments and evictions were due to their work.

President Ban Johnson of the American League, whose hostile views against betting in baseball parks are well known, was a visitor at the Polo grounds today.

The crusade against betting is a concerted one. It was started by Ban Johnson and both Frank Farrell, owner of the New York Americans, and Harry Hempstead, proprietor of the New York Nationals, and various other club owners will work actively for the abolition of the betting evil at ball games, it is said.

38 Arrested in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, June 16.—Accused of making bets on the Philadelphia-Cleveland baseball game, 38 spectators were arrested in the grandstand and bleachers during today's contest in Shibe Park. The prisoners were taken to city hall in patrol wagons and held for a hearing in the night court. Detectives have been preparing for today's raid for some time, and were stationed in every part of the stands where gambling was expected. At a given signal the alleged gamblers were seized by plainclothesmen scattered through the stands.

They are Dr. Soyeda, one of the foremost statesmen and financiers of Japan, and Messrs. Kamiya Shima and Boko; the latter editor of a Japanese paper in San Francisco.

The visitors are charged with no official mission, but are engaged in an effort to ascertain, and, if possible to remove the causes that have been imposing a strain upon the friendly relations between America and Japan. During their stay in Washington they will seek conferences with some of the higher officials of the government as well as with members of Congress.

Atlanta Council Regulates Ownership of Property by Negroes in City.

Atlanta, Ga., June 16.—Race segregation in city blocks where the majority of the voters favor it is the object of an ordinance passed by the Atlanta council this afternoon. The measure is said to have resulted from recent actions of negroes in one of the wards, in buying realty adjacent to white residential sites. The ordinance does not seek to remove the negroes who have already secured property, but to prevent others from gaining a foothold, if the majority of the voters in any block do not desire negroes to own property there. The ordinance provides for the appointment of a committee to consider any amendments which may be deemed necessary.

STRIKE DISTRICTS IN DISORDER AGAIN

Renewal of Industrial Warfare Threatened in Mine Regions

INVESTIGATORS STILL AT WORK

Miners Dissatisfied With Prevailing Conditions—Mass Meeting Sends Report to West Virginia Capital—Witnesses

Charleston, W. Va., June 16.—With a renewal of the industrial war in the Paint and Cabin Creek mine districts generally reported, the Senate Mine Strike committee today continued its examination of witnesses. During the day miners, detectives and agents of the mine operators came down from the strike region with tales of a new strike declared, and the district again was thrown into disorder.

The local union of the United Mine Workers of America has not called a new strike on Paint and Cabin Creeks, Thomas Haggerty, a member of the International Miners' Board, declared tonight. "But we cannot be sure of the men who are working up in the field," he said. "The operators have not lived up to the agreement under which the men went back to work, and which was drawn by Governor Hatfield. We have tried to prevent a further strike, but I am convinced that the miners up there have already decided not to continue to work under the conditions which prevail there now. Meetings were held in the creeks yesterday, and the men expressed dissatisfaction with conditions. They decided to strike and the union cannot control them."

A committee of miners from the Cabin Creek section came to Charleston today to urge the United Mine Workers' officials to call a general strike. They bore the instructions of a mass meeting held in the hills yesterday.

The Testimony Presented

The testimony presented to the Senate committee today was largely routine and cumulative. Thomas L. Feltz, vice president of the Baldwin-Feltz Detective Agency, which supplied the mine guards for the Paint Creek and Cabin Creek operators during the strike, was the principal witness.

Mr. Feltz told the committee that when the trouble on Paint and Cabin Creeks was at its height his concern had about 110 armed men on Cabin Creek and about 35 men on Paint Creek. He also said that his company had from six to ten men working in the strike district as "secret service operatives."

"Did you men make a list of those who were organizers for the United Mine Workers and those men who were active in the union, for the use of the operators?" asked Seymour Stedman, attorney for the miners.

The witness said such a list had been compiled.

"One of the objects of your organization," asked Mr. Stedman, "when it is employed, is to prevent the organization of branches of the United Mine Workers?"

"Yes, that is one of the objects," said Feltz.

Mr. Feltz denied emphatically that any of his men operated in the strike district after Governor Glasscock declared martial law. He also denied that any Baldwin-Feltz men were on the armored train which fired on the strikers' camp at Holly Grove in February.

Senator Kenyon ascertained from Mr. Feltz that men were employed "to join the unions to find out what was going on," in order to carry out the purposes of preventing union organization.

Senator Martine was interested in the character of men employed by Feltz as guards in the local fields, and questioned him closely as to the instructions issued to men who were hired as guards.

After a lengthy examination as to the qualifications which the agency demanded when men applied for places, Senator Martine demanded, "When it was a question whether a man possessed physical courage or moral courage, which way did you decide?"

Feltz was not quite sure and the Senator asked rather impatiently:

"When a man came to you for a place and it was a question as to whether he could shoot well or pray well, which did you choose?"

With a smile the chief of the guards answered:

"Well, I think to shoot well would be the qualification needed in a controversy such as there was in the creeks."

Feltz told the committee his concern received something over $500 a day for the services rendered by its men in the field on the creeks when the trouble was at its height.

Scores of witnesses called by the miners today testified that the principal trouble in the strike district was caused by the conduct of the guards.

PHILS ARE TWICE LOSERS

Dropped Opener at Chicago After Defeat of Sunday—Dodgers Defeated St. Louis—Giants and Braves Winners.

After calm consideration, Charlie Dooin has decided that he will postpone for a little while the announcement that Tom Seaton will be his choice on the mound in the opening game of the world series between Philadelphia and Philadelphia.

After a crushing defeat Sunday the Chicago Cubs compiled two or three average box scores off said Phillies yesterday and won the game by a score of 13 to 3. Dooin's mainstay, Alexander, was retired after five innings, as many runs off his delivery having been eloquent arguments for said removal. Marshall, a recruit, being invited to continue operations. This bush leaguer didn't do a thing to start with but walk a quintette of Phil marathoners, after Mitchell had made a home run.

The Brooklyn Dodgers won from St. Louis yesterday after the locals had piled up a five-run lead in the fourth inning. In the sixth inning the Car Dodgers jumped on Sallee for five runs on a half dozen successive sinbles. Burke, who relieved him, pitched to only one man, who also singled successfully. Harmon, who followed him was a sharer in the same fate.

His Highness, Marquis de Marquard the lean Frenchman of the Giants, was opposed yesterday by Johnson, the Winnebago brave of the Cincinnati Reds, after George Suggs had been taken out in the seventh to make way for a pincher, and the Giants won the game 4 to 2.

The Pittsburg Pirates, heralded at the beginning of the season as the "class" of the National League, have recently demonstrated that their class is about fifth or sixth. They dropped their fourth consecutive game to the Boston Braves yesterday, Wagner being left on third at the conclusion of the game, although he had reached that station on an error with none out.

Phillies Again Walloped.

Chicago, June 16.—Chicago defeated Philadelphia 13 to 3. The Philadelpria star, Alexander, retired after five innings. Marshall, a recruit, pitched, walked five men in a row in the seventh after Mitchell had made a home run.

REV. L. L. LITTLE SPEAKS.

Made Splendid Address at First Presbyterian Church Sunday.

At the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning Rev. L. L. Little, who recently returned from the mission field in China, made an address on his work at the missionary station at Kiang-yin. He traced its history from its establishment in 1895, when he and his devoted wife first went there. When they arrived they found the people hostile to the Christian religion and at one time had to escape from the city for their lives. Today the condition of affairs is very different.

Today there are more than 500 Christians, besides many adherents.

There is a hospital, under the direction of Dr. George C. Worth, which furnishes relief to more than 1,000 patients a month, and is the only hospital within the reach of a million Chinamen. There is a boys' school, of which Mr. Little is principal, a girls' school, of which Mrs. Little has charge, these schools having over 400 students, and the total value of the equipment is $50,000. With the exception of the amount contributed by Dr. and Mrs. Worth, the entire amount for the support of the mission is given by members of the First Presbyterian church.

On account of the fact that he was not well, Mr. Little did not speak at the afternoon service. He and Mrs. Little left yesterday for Little's Mill, where they are visiting relatives.

Mr. Green Postmaster

Mr. H. McL. Green is now in charge of the Wilmington postoffice. He assumed his new duties Sunday afternoon, the office being formally turned over to him by Mr. Thos. E. Wallace, the retiring postmaster, who held the office for about ten years. The appointment of Mr. Green for the office has given pretty general satisfaction and that he will make a good postmaster goes without saying.

"SMOKY JOE" STRIKING HIS STRIDE.

Joe Wood, the famous "smoke ball," artist of the Boston Red Sox, seems to be getting again into world series form. In yesterday's game with St. Louis he twirled the entire length of a twelve-inning affair, winning his own game in the final stanza by a timely single which brought in the sought-for run.

"THIRTEEN" NO HOODOO.

Steamer Cherokee Proves It No Unlucky Number.

If there is any "hoodoo" in the number "13", the steamer Cherokee doesn't seem to care a snap about it, for the boat left New York City last Friday, June 13, 1913, at 3 P. M., with 13 passengers and arrived at 4:13 P. M. Sunday, safe and sound, after a most delightful trip, with a generous cargo. There might have been even some more "thirteens" connected with this trip, but enough are given to show that the number is no bugbear for the fine steamer.

ATHLETICS TOOK THE FINAL

Defeated Cleveland Naps by Timely Rally—"Smoky Joe" Won for Boston—Tigers Won— Senators Downed

The Philadelphia Athletics made it three out of four by taking the final game of the series from the Cleveland Naps yesterday afternoon, Cy Falkenberg dropping his third game of the season. The game belonged to the Naps until the opening of the seventh. In this inning the Athletics bunched two hits and put a run across, and repeated the same dose again in the eighth, giving the locals a one run lead. Eddie Plank added more laurels to his record, having twirled yesterday's game through without at any time endangering his team's chance of victory, allowing the visitors just a halfg dozen well-scattered hits.

The Naps had the Washington Senators for a Sunday afternoon matinee, the Climbers taking the game easily.

"Smoky Joe" Wood smoked 'em across through a twelve-inning game with St. Louis yesterday, pitching magnificently for the entire twelve innings, and not satisfied with this record, stepped into the arena in the final stanza and placed a neat single which drove across the winning run, scoring Engle who had walked and gone to third on Wallace's wild throw to second.

The Detroit Tigers defeated New York, being aided by the errors behind the Yankees.

The Washington Senators, after an easy victory over the Naps Sunday, returned home and were defeated yesterday by the Chicagos, McBride's error making the winning possible for the visitors. Two home runs were among the collection off Henry Engel.

WITH THE MOVIES

The Academy management claims this week that it will make the biggest and most brilliant offerng ever made in moving pictures in Wilmington in the great 5 reel Kalem masterpiece, "From the Manger to the Cross," and it will not only be something stupendous, but something that is beautiful, impressive and that has been praised by both pulpit and press. It is a wonderful Biblical creation and the scenes were staged directly in Palestine and Egypt. The Academy will make this big offering Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week with matinee every afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and night performances commencing at 7:30 and running to 11 o'clock. The prices will be low, being only 15 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst gave the beautiful film creation the following endorsement: "I feel that I am rendering service to a good cause in expressing to you the pleasure and satisfaction afforded me yesterday by the opportunity you kindly put within my reach of witnessing the drama, entitled "From the Manger to the Cross"

At the Grand Today

The delightful, handsome Grand, with its pure comfort, big show and its tiny price of 5 cents, always appeals to the people, because the Grand is freely ventilated, thus assuring health, and cooled by many electric fans. For to-day the Grand has a feast of big things, headed by Edison's powerful drama, "Groundless Suspicious." It is a domestic drama, with clever Laura Sawyer and dashing Benjamin F. Wilson in the stellar roles. Lubin has a novel and brilliant dramatic, "The Padre's Strategy." It is a stirring isle of Mexico, with plenty of adventure and pretty love story. Cines has its masterpiece on to-day in the gem," A Deal in Stocks." It is a stock exchange film that is entirely different, Truly, to-day's Grand bill is the best all round one ever offered in Wilmington.

Today at the Bijou

A bright, refreshing show for a warm day, and a cozy, cool spot in which to enjoy it is the combination the popular Bijou so alluringly offers to-day, 5 cents, afternoon or night. There are four films on, besides plenty of new and merry music. Two photoplays dealing with especially live themes feature the bill. One is a gripping story of the rails, Pathe's "The Engineer's Daughters," which tells of outlaws, with a thrilling locomotive race as the climax. The other star is a political story, "The Scales of Justice". It is of graft and trickery in the police department of lead by "Boosting Business". It is a hustling story of a hustling travelling salesman. A swell educational film, "Cairo, Egypt, and its Environs" is also a bright offering.

STATE GUARD STANDS FIRST

North Carolina Troops Rank With the Best, Say Army Officers—Automobile Law Not Repealed—Day's Raleigh News

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 16.—Capt. R. C. Langdon, inspector-instructor for the North Carolina National Guard, is just back from camps of instruction for the National Guard of New York and of Pennsylvania, where he was ordered to go as an instructor for the War Department.

He will a little later attend a similar school in the State of Maine. Capt. Langdon on these trips was thrown with numbers of the officers of the United States army who have come in contact with the officers and men of the North Carolina National Guard, and he says that he was delighted to hear on every side the highest commendation for them. The officers of the North Carolina Guard, he says, stand in the very front rank in the estimation of the officers of the regular army who have had occasion to criticise the various State organizations.

A report has gone out into some sections of the State that the North Carolina automobile law has been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court and the Department of State is receiving numbers of letters making inquiry about it. There is not the least bit of truth in the report, no part of the act ever having been brought into question. The Department of State just now is sending out blanks to all automobile owners for reports and remittances for license taxes and unless these have been returned with checks covering the State tax by July 1st, the numbers will be canceled.

Governor Craig issued a requisition today on the Governor of Maryland for C. J. Fried, who is wanted in Orange county on the charge of embezzling collections that he is alleged to have made for a firm, representing himself to be a member of the company.

The many friends of George Norwood, chief clerk to the Secretary of State, sympathize with him deeply in the loss of a son, George Norwood, Jr., who has for two years been manager for the North State Insurance Co., of Kinston, at Rocky Mount. He was brought home very ill two weeks ago and died last night, aged 25 years. He is survived by his parents and seven brothers and sisters. The interment was at the old Norwood country home near Raleigh this afternoon, Dr. O'Kelly, of the First Baptist church, officiating.

The Corporation Commission heard today the petition on the part of J. C. Tussey, Lexington, for the Winston-Salem Southbound Railroad Co., to be required to provide a side track for his lumber plant near Lexington, instead of the plant being required to haul timber a mile and a half to the nearest siding. President H. E. Fries, of the Winston-Salem Southbound, was here with counsel to represent the interests of the railroad company. Ruling in the case was held up for a few days.

Alex. Stronach, well known young lawyer of this city, and former Police Justice of Raleigh, will sail July 1st from San Francisco for the Samoan Islands to assume his duties as judge of the District Court, secretary to the Governor of Samoa, and secretary of native affairs. In the meantime, he goes to Washington in a few days for a conference with Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, through whom the appointment came.

Charters are issued for the Piedmont Sundries Co., Charlotte, capital $100,000 authorized and $3,000 subscribed by T. C. Guthrie, C. W. Tillett, Jr., and T. C. Guthrie, Jr., for dealing in personal property generally; the Germania Manufacturing Co., Wilmington, capital $200,000 authorized and $100,000 subscribed by C. M. Patterson, George S. Patterson and R. W. Hoffses, for general lumber and timber business; the J. A. Tate Co., Greensboro, capital $25,000 authorized and $4,000 subscribed by J. A. Tate and others, for grocery business; the Miller Hardwood & Lumber Co., Bryson City, capital $300,000 authorized and $2,500 subscribed by Thomas H. Miller, Fred H. Baker and others. There is an amendment to the charter of the Wolf Mountain Lumber Co., changing the location of the principal office of the corporation from Asheville to Wolf Mountain.

WILL MEET TODAY

Adjourned Session of the Board of County Commissioners.

The Board of County Commissioners will meet at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in adjourned session for the transaction of any unfinished business left over from the regular meeting June 2nd and the adjourned session last Monday. It is understood that there are a number of matters to be considered, among which is the appointment of a coroner to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Jeseph Akerman two or three weeks ago because of friction between himself in his official capacity and the health department. There is talk that Dr. John Thames, assistant county superintendent of health and clerk to the Board of Health, may be elected for this office also if it is found that there is no legal barrier to prevent his holding two or three offices at the same time. Mention has also been made of Mr. M. H. Brimmer, the well known funeral director, as a possible successor to Dr. Akerman. It has been the custom in this county for a number of years to have a physician as coroner, but a layman can fill the position just as well as a physician, as in case an autopsy is necessary—the only time a physician is needed in connection with the coroner's work—it is always performed by the county superintendent of health and not by the coroner himself. Either Dr. Thames or Mr. Brimmer would make most acceptable official and the selection of either would meet with general approval.

Death of Little Girl

Annie Catherine, the 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Yopp, who live at 809 South Front street, died Sunday afternoon. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence, conducted by Rev. J. S. Crowley, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian church. The interment was at Bellevue cemetery. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of many friends in their great grief.

PARCEL POST PACAGES C.O.D.

New Feature of Serice Effective July 1st—Will Apply to All Money Order Offices in the United Sates

Effective July 1 parcel post packages may be sen from the Wilmington postoffice C. O. D., according to instructions recntly received at the local postoffice from the department at Washington. Specia tags for these packages will be provided, and preparations are already being made to handle the increased business. The new service will apply to all parts of the United Sates and its possessions with the exception of the Philippine Islands and the Panama canal zone.

A distinctive tag must be attached to all packages of this class. It consists of three parts, one of which is retained by the sender as his receipt, the second is kept by the postoffice from which the package is sent while the third is attached to the parcel to be sent. The sender will be required to fill in a number of items on the tgs, among these being the amount due him, his name and address and a description of the goods contained in the package. When the package is delivered to the consignee the coupon will be torn off and sent to the consignor as a money order payable for the amount which he has written on the coupon.

These C. O. D. packages may be sent from any money order office to any office issuing money orders. The packages cannot be examined until the amount specified on the coupon has been paid to the postal authorities by the consignee. This service will apply also to rural mail carriers in the same way as the offices with the exception of the fact that they will not be allowed to deliver receipts for the packages until they have been numbered at the postoffice. C. O. D. parcels will be delivered by both city and rural carriers and special messengers under the rules governing the delivery of registered mail.

While the new service will mean a large amount of additional work for the postal employes, it will be but a short time until it is handled with the same facility as first-class mail matter. The department is engaged in simplifying the service to such a fine point that C. O. D. patrons will find it as convenient as express service.

The parcel post is another link in the chain which binds the consumer to the retail store, and the C. O. D. system that is soon to be added to the service will be undoubtedly of vast benefit to the public. The modus operandi is as follows:

If a Wilmington merchant wants to send a suit of clothes, valued at $25, to a customer in Lumberton, to be paid for on delivery, the only postage required is the proper amount of parcel post stamps. The carrier who delivers the bundle in Lumberton collects the $25 by issuing a postoffice order made payable to the Wilmington merchant. Thus the only fee for the transaction is the price of the money order. Much time, trouble, and expense are saved by empowering the carrier to make out the order.

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

Charles Malloy, Colored, Sent to the Roads for Three Months.

Three months on the county roads was the sentence of the Recorder yesterday for Charles Malloy, who was arrested Sunday on a warrant charging him with stealing a bicycle from the Queen City Cycle Co., Saturday. The bicycle stolen was sent from Southport for repairs and had been taken to the government wharf to be shipped back to Southport. Charles Malloy and John Bryant later came along, it seems, and took the wheel, selling it later for 45 cents. The case was worked up against these two boys by Roscoe Russ, an errand boy for the Queen City Cycle Co. The case against John Bryant, colored, was not prossed with leave, it appearing that he is a boy only eight or ten years old.

Richard Plummer, Monroe Hodges, Warren Thompson and George Ennett, all colored, who were arrested Sunday by Officer Jacobs for gambling, plead guilty and were each fined $5 and the costs. The case against Josh McNeill, colored, charged with vagrancy, was dismissed as the defendant appeared to be sick. Judgment was suspended upon payment of the cost in the case of Arthur McNeil, colored, who was charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Joe Williams, colored, was fined $5 and the costs, and James Patrick, colored, was fined $5 and costs for engaging in an affray on the streets Saturday afternoon. The case against Ben Green, colored, charged with selling intoxicating liquors, was dismissed. Evidence in the case was heard Saturday, but the Recorder reserved his decision until yesterday.

Several cases on the docket were continued until today, among these being one against H. Stein, charged with assaulting his wife; Isaiah James, charged with assaulting Cora Patterson with a deadly weapon; Carry Patterson, colored, charged with shooting James; and Warren Thompson, colored, on an old warrant charging him with assault with deadly weapon. Thompson is one of the bunch of negroes arrested Sunday for gambling.

INTEREST IN TENT PARTY.

Novel Outing at Carolina Beach Appeals to Many.

The indications are for a large party of people from many places at Carolina Beach from July 15th to 30th, to enjoy the pleasures afforded by the tented camp being prepared by Mr. James G. Bailey, of Southport, whose presence in the city Saturday to make arrangements for prtinting programmes, regulations, etc., was noted in Sunday's Star. As stated, the camp will be pitched army fashion. People are making reservations for groups, families, couples and singly. Parties of young ladies will have chaperones. The tented camp will be provided with sanitary arrangements and all conveniences down to small details. The booking is being made by invitation. Among those who have listed numbers are Mrs. J. F. Conoly, of Augusta, Ga., who has booked 10; Miss Lillie Henderson, of Charlotte, who has booked 18; Miss Kate Simpson, of Camden, S. C., and Miss Nellie Boykin, of South Carolina, have each booked a number.

No Substitute Could Do This

No inferior substitute, but only the genuine Foley Kidney Pills could have rid J. F. Wallich, Bartlett, Neb., of his kidney trouble. He says: "I was bothered with backache, and the pain would run up to the back of my head, and I had spells of dizziness. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they did the work and I am now entirely rid of kidney trouble. My father-in-law, now past 93 years, has taken them and they added years to his life."—Robt. R. Bellamy.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ACTIVE

Number of Arrests Made Last Night for Violations of Prohibition Law Through Sale of "No Tax", Whiskey, Etc.

Charged specifically with selling beverages containing alcohol Henry Woebse, Ben Cottle and Dolf Bolton, all white, were arrested last night by members of the city police department, and placed under bond of $200 each for their appearance in court this morning to answer to this charge. Lonnie Gurganus, who, it is alleged, attempted to interfere with the arrest of Woebse, was also arrested, and gave bond for his appearance in court this morning. Tom Whitfield, alias John Whitfield, colored, was locked up on the charge of violating the prohibition law.

Police headquarters last night looked like a miniature drug store with its display of Jamaica ginger, and the five dozen or more quart bottles containing a nameless mixture, supposed to be cider. It attracted many visitors, and was a subject of much comment. They talked of the good old days when booze was plentiful, and wondered what the world was coming to when police headquarters of a city like Wilmington should be filled to overflowing with a mild drink, containing about 1 per cent. of alcohol, seized for being illegally sold.

Directed by Chief of Police Williams, Plainclothesmen D. W. Coleman, Leon George, B. W. Jacobs and Frank George have been busy for several days looking after some of those engaged in selling soft drinks, and the work last night represents a part of the results accomplished by them.

Henry Woebse, who runs a business at Seventh and Nixon streets, was arrested about 10 o'clock on a warrant charging him with the sale or a nameless mixture, which perhops could be classed as cider, containing alcohol. Lonnie Gurganus, who was in the store at the time, for attempting to interfere with the arrest, was also taken into custody. He was required to give a bond of $50 for his appearance in court this morning.

There were found in Woebse's place of business 62 quart bottles and four partly filled quart bottles of the mixture which it is alleged he has been selling. It was on exhibition at police headquarters last night, and has a very pungent odor, smelling something like a sassafras compound. A sample of it was analyzed by the chemist a day or so ago, and it was found, so it is said, to contain a small percentage of alcohol, enough to put it on the forbidden list of beverages in this city.

Ben Cottle, who runs a drug store at Eighth and Castle streets, was arrested early in the night by Officers Coleman and George on a warrant charging him with the illegal sale of intoxicating beverages. Dolf Bolton, who clerks in the store, was also arrested on the same charge. Seven dozen bottles of Jamaica ginger, guaranteed to contain a large percentage of alcohol, were seized by the officers. It is alleged that Cottle was using this material in the concoction of various drinks for the relief of the thirsty.

At the same time that Cottle and Bolton were arrested, Tom Whitfield, colored, alias John Whitfield, who runs a barber shop next door on Eighth street, was arrested on the charge of violating the prohibition law by selling whiskey. He was unable to give bond and had to go to the lock-up. He, too, will have to face the Recorder today.

Douglas Euwell, colored, was arrested at 1 o'clock this morning at his residence, No. 7 13 1-2 North Ninth street, by Officers Jacobs and George on a warrant charging him with the sale of intoxicating liquors. It was too late to arrange bond, and he is in the lock-up awaiting trial before the Recorder at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL

Revised Plans for the Institution Have Been Completed

Mr. J. F. Gause, Jr., the architect, has completed a revision of the original plans for the tuberculosis hospital to be erected by the Red Cross Society on a site donated by the county on what is known as the county home property, and contractors are invited to submit proposals, which will be opened on Wednesday, June 25th. It is hoped to have the construction work under way by the first of July so as to have the hospital ready for the reception of patients in the Fall.

The original plans called for a building containing accommodations for 30 to 35 patients. None of the bids received came within the appropriation for the building, so it was found necessary to revise the plans for smaller structure. The revised plans provide for a building having a capacity for the care of 20 to 25 patients. The building will be arranged that it can be added to from time to time as more room is needed.

ROAD OIL FOR STREETS.

Car Load Has Been Purchased by the City—Arrive in a Few Days.

Councilman B. A. Merritt, in charge of the Department of Streets and Wharves, stated yesterday that an order had been placed with the Standard Oil Company for a car load of oil to be used in treating the macadam streets of the city. The oil was shipped Saturday, Councilman Merritt has been advised, and will reach Wilmington in a few days, it is expected. Recently, the county purchased a car load of the same kind of oil and spread it over about four miles of road. The streets are wider than the roads, so the car ordered by the city will not stretch over as many miles. The oil acts as a binder and lays the dust and preserves the road. It is claimed that one treatment will last three years, but if it lasts only one year it is considered a good investment. Red Cross and Castle streets are being repaired, and they will be the first thoroughfares in the city to be treated with a coating of the oil. It is hoped to purchase more of the oil later, so as to treat every macadam street in the city.

OCEAN DISTRIBUTION HERE

Clyde Line Brings Large Interior Consignments of Matches

The Diamond Match Company, one of America's greatest manufacturing companies, is now using the port of Wilmington for distributing carload consignments of matches to points in North and South Carolina and Georgia. Included in a large cargo of merchandise brought here by the Clyde Line steamship "Cherokee" Sunday there were several carloads of matches that were transferred to the railroads for shipment into the interior. This is an addition to the list of large manufacturers who have recognized the port of Wilmington as an ideal distributing point for reaching the best portion of the South. It is only the beginning of other large shipments to follow by every steamer.

MINISTERS PRESENT VIEWS

Proposed Sunday Selling Ordinance Discussed at Meeting of Local Association Yesterday Morning—Nothing Definite.

The regular weekly meeting of the Wilmington. Ministerial. Association yesterday morning was the largest attended of any meeting in recent months due to the fact that a matter of vital importance to the ministers was scheduled for consideration—that of Sunday selling. Ex-Judge E. K. Bryan, city attorney, met with the ministers for the purpose of getting their views on the question, his idea being to follow as nearly as possible the suggestions of the ministers in drafting an ordinance to take the place of one repealed at the regular meeting of City Council last week.

While the question was discussed from nearly every angle, and at length, no definite conclusion was reached. Judge Bryan suggested that in order to facilitate matters that the ministers select an attorney to meet with him, and the two would endeavor to prepare an ordinance to meet the needs of the situation, and at the same time one that will stand the tests of the courts. He takes the position that the ordinance that wa srepealed was discriminatory and would not have been upheld in court. The ministers seemed favorable to the suggestion made by Judge Bryan that they select an attorney to represent them in the matter, and it is not unlikely that one will be engaged for this purpose.

While Wilmington was "wide-open" Sunday, so far as a Sunday selling ordinance is concerned, there was apparently no increase in the number of sales over the previous Sunday. The fact is Wilmington has been pretty much of a "wide open" Sunday all along, and so far as anyone could tell there were no more places open last Sunday than have been open on Sundays in the past.

However, it is expected that as the result of the repeal of the Sunday selling law and the discussion that has followed, there will be drafted and enacted an ordinance, which, if enforced, will mean a more general observance of the Sabbath. The ministers are determined in their fight and they propose to appear before the Council from time to time until a satisfactory ordinance is adopted. It is likely that a number of ministers and business men will be present at the Council meeting tomorrow morning, when it is expected that the substitute ordinance will be presented for consideration.

TINNERS GO ON STRIKE.

Demand That Only Union Labor be Employed by Local Shops.

Because of a refusal to sign an agreement to employ only union labor, the tinners working for Prease Bros., and the Hanover Iron Works, refused to go to work yesterday, and have declared a general strike. The Tinners' Union some time ago served notice on all local shops engaged in the tinning business that they would expect them to sign on or before June 15th, a contract to employ only union labor. This demand, it is understood, was acceded to by all the shops with the exception of the foregoing firms.

In the paper which the Union wants signed the matter of wages is left open with the understanding that the price to be paid is to be settled with the individual. They only want recognition of the union and the exclusion of all labor outside of the union.

The concerns mentioned above refuse to sign this paper because they say that there are not enough first-class workmen in the union to supply their needs in the first place, and in the second place, if they sign an agreement to employ only union men that it will be only a question of time when they will want a uniform wage rate for all the men. They state that they are perfectly willing to sign an agreement to exclude all except union labor provided a wage scale is included in the same agreement. They want to have a certain price agreed upon for labor of the first class, and a lower rate for those who are not capable of doing skilled work of the better class.

There was talk yesterday of the plumbers making a sympathetic strike to help the tinners enforce their demands, though they have not yet done so. It is said that while the plumbers have a union there has never been any formal recognition of them, and no agreement made with them to employ only union labor.

There are about 25 men employed by Prease Bros., and the Hanover Iron Works, which makes up the greater part of the tinners of the city. These two firms have not yet stated what their future plans are, but may resort to getting men from other cities to carry on their work in the event that they fail to come to a satisfactory agreement with the local union.

STATE MERCHANTS GATHER

Eleventh Annual Meeting Begins at Wrightsville Beach Tonight—Visitors Will be Formally Welcomed

Representative merchants from all parts of the Old North State will gather in the assembly hall of the Oceanic Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, this evening for the opening session of the 11th annual convention of the Merchants' Association of North Carolina. At this time the visitors, probably numbering 200, will be formally and heartily welcomed to Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach.

The visitors will be at the resort through Thursday, the closing session being scheduled for Thursday evening. No effort has been made to provide special entertainment for the visitors except the souvenir dance at Lumina Wednesday evening, as it was felt that with the very full programme of the convention there would be no more than enough time between meetings to enjoy the large number of usual attractions of the resort, such as surf bathing, sailing, fishing, etc. The merchants have considerable business to transact, besides there are a number of addresses on the programme for each session.

The State association is composed of 38 local associations in as many cities and towns in the State. Members of the association are the leading merchants of their respective towns. The delegates to the State convention are the very cream of the mercantile life of North Carolina. They compose a fine body of men. Not only are they merchants, but many of them have other business connections. They are men of influence and standing in their respective communities. Wilmington feels honored in having this representative body of citizens in her midst for a few days.

As Editor Norman Johnson said in a recent issue of The Merchants' Journal, "The North Carolina Association has been of inestimable value to the membership." He says further of it: "It has secured more legislation and corrected more trade abuses than any similar organization ever formed. The work in organizing this past year has not been so large as in former years because the State has maintained an unusual large number of active associations."

"The freight rate fight was begun by his association," continues the editorial, "and now that other forces have zealously taken up this fight, there is all the more reason for increased activity for this association to assure victory."

Delegates to the convention began arriving in the city yesterday, a number coming in on the evening and late trains. They went through to the Oceanic Hotel. The visitors are met at the union station by a local reception committee and escorted to the suburban cars for the beach. Practically all the trains to the city today will have on board delegates to the convention and by night nearly all who expect to attend will be here.

The Charlotte delegation numbering 30, reached the city at midnight on a special Pullman attached to the regular Seaboard train. They were met at the union station with a suburban car and went through to the beach. In the party are Mr. Joe Garibaldi, president of the State association; Mr. Jas. T. Porter, president of the Charlotte association; Mr. E. W. Berryhill, secretary State association; Messrs. D. R. Yarborough, Ralph Miller, A. B. Justice and others. The Asheville delegation left Asheville Sunday afternoon for Charlotte, where they expected to join the Queen City delegation.

The Opening Session

At 8:30 o'clock this evening the convention will be called to order by President Garibaldi and after prayer by Rev. H. W. Koelling, of Wilmington, the addresses of welcome will be delivered, as follows: On behalf of the City of Wilmington, Mayor Parker Quince Moore; on behalf of the bar, W. P. Stacy, Esq.; on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, Col. J. VanB. Metts; on behalf of the local merchants' association, Mr. E. H. Munson, the president, who is also vice president of the State organization. The response to the addresses will be made by Hon. James E. Rector, of Asheville. Following the appointment of a committee on credentials, the meeting will adjourn.

Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, the second session will be called to order. The first thing on the programme is the report of State officers, as follows: Joe Garibaldi, president, Charlotte; E. W. Berryhill, secretary, Charlotte; S. P. Burton, treasurer, Asheville. Then will follow an address by Mr. A. J. Maxwell, clerk of the North Carolina Corporation Commission, on "The Freight Rate Situation in North Carolina." He will be followed by Mr. A. B. Justice, of Charlotte, whose subject is "Legislation: What the Merchants Can Do to Secure It." Committees will then be named as follows: Constitution and by-laws; ways and means; resolutions, auditing, nominations, general discussion.

The afternoon session, which begins at 2:30 o'clock, will be featured by addresses by three young ladies, who occupy a prominent place in the State association as well as in the local organizations which they represent. Miss L. Maie Stephenson, of Charlotte, assistant secretary of the State association and business secretary of the Charlotte association, will speak on "Your Secretaries and Their Qualifications." Miss Muriel Y. Joyner, secretary of the Greensboro association, will have as her subject, "Your Members and Their Duty to the Association." Miss Bessie Hill Hackney, secretary of the Raleigh association, will speak on "The Result of Protected Credit."

There will be two other addresses at this session, as follows: "A Merchants' Association for Every Town in North Carolina," Mr. R. L. Poston, president of the Statesville association; "What the Merchants' Association Has Done for Southport," Mr. Geo. Y. Watson, secretary Southport association.

Wednesday night there will be two addresses, as follows: "Equalization of Taxation," Hon. E. L. Travis, chairman Corporation Commission, Raleigh; "What the State Association Has Accomplished for the Merchants of North Carolina," Mr. Norman H. Johnson, editor Merchants' Journal and Commerce, Richmond, Va. Then will follow a general discussion, after which report of the auditing committee will be received.

Thursday morning the programme will be as follows: General discussion on advertising, reports of local associations, general discussion, report of standing committees; special legislative, Joe Garibaldi, Charlotte; legislative, Edgar E. Broughton, Raleigh; finance, R. W. Vaughan, Durham; transportation, J. N. McCausland, Charlotte; insurance, Archibald Nichols, Asheville; arbitration, J. S. McRae, Maxton.

Thursday afternoon there will be report of the ways and means committee, committee on resolutions, committee on constitution and by-laws, and a general discussion on "How to Get the Members of Locals to Attend Meetings."

At the closing session Thursday night the programme will be as follows: Reading and adoption of minutes, selecting next place of meeting, report of committee on nominations and election of officers, general discussion, adjournment.

11th. To Mrs. Russell, who, although a proper Presbyterian, forgot herself and St. Paul's injunction to keep silent in the church, and delivered a delightful and helpful address which pointed out the great work awaiting in the highways and hedges also for her faithful and efficient work as recording secretary.

12th. To Mrs. M. D. C. Burgwyn for the beautiful and tasteful banner presented so generously to the State and which will remind future conventions of the loving life work of the giver.

13th. Resolved, That we thank the press, who have published our proceedings, and in that way have helped our sisters who were not fortunate enough to be present, to keep in touch with the great work.

14th. To Mr. J. J. Blair and Mr. J. P. Whyte for their instructive and most helpful addresses.

Respectfully submitted,
MISS MAUDE BROWN,

A critic generally makes a noise like a knocker.

You make no mistake when you come to Wilmington with a good thing.

A town gets to be a city when the idlers quit taking the city hall for a loafing place.

The Fourth of July and Christmas are looked upon by some men as semi-annual excuses.

Don't get it at home when you have the credit and then get it abroad when you have the cash.

A New York man wants a divorce because his wife can't sing. Probably it is because she tries to sing.

The one thing that is more appreciated than sympathy is assistance. When a fellow is in a hole he wants to get out.

One development right after another is what makes a city or a country grow. One development always brings on another.

"Should a woman tell her husband everything?" How can she do so unless she should quit finding out something new?

The Star offers a reward of 'steen million dollars for a lobbyist that has no money while he is doing business in Washington.

Don't do anything under the idea that your case will be compromised. You may be the Jonah of which an example is to be made.

"In union there is strength" but when the union breaks up it brings on lots of trouble like that brewing in the Bankans. Union is all right as long as it lasts.

If a foreign nation should land 150,000 troops in the United States we speak for 149,999 so they can be utilized in picking cotton and sowing Winter cover crops this Fall.

Every man thinks he could have been something if he had only had the chance. Most of us are what we are because we didn't know enough to know what our chances were.

Equal rates for all and special privileges for none. Discrimination always would cause a row. Discrimination gives one section an advantage over another. It is not high rates but unfair rates that has brought on unrest in North Carolina.

Paul Hellu, the French artist, continues to win popularity because he declared that America has the most beautiful women in the world. We are no women but we have beautiful friends in whose behalf we rise and vote in the affirmative.

Our idea of those who take "a walk across the continent" is that they save a lot of car fare and gain considerable newspaper notoriety. The walkers may see the point but so far we are not able to see what is gained by transcontinental trampism.

Women are discovering that some of the privileges, opportunities and rights of civilization belong to them for the simple reason that we are educating women as they were never educated before. We are developing the minds of women and we have to take the consequences.

Says the Houston Post: "A Shelbyville, Ind., man is suing his wife for divorce, his allegation being that she threw him down and took his money away from him. The gentle wives of Houston acsieve similar financial results without rough-housing or hitting in the clinches." Nevertheless, those Houstonettes will throw a man down when they find out that his pile is only 30 cents.

It is about time for them to quit saying Southerners are lazy when the cotton crop in the South is worth more money than the biggest crop of any one product grown in all the balance of the Union. The South manufactures more than half the cotton consumed in the mills of the United States and furnishes about a third of the foreign exports of the whole country. Who's lazy now?

CITY PURCHASING PLAN

For the first time in its history, Wilmington is casting about for a city purchasing plan. This city is to have a purchasing agent, and, of course, the object is to effect a saving for the city in the purchase of supplies. If it does not do so but increases the burden, like some other so-called reforms, it will serve the end for which it really is intended.

Wilmington and other cities can save themselves a great deal of time and experimenting by getting in touch with the commission plan in Memphis. The Tennessee city is becoming a model for the entire United States, and its city government is so systematizing all its departments that it is being noticed and approved by the technical journals of the country. The Memphis government publishes an illustrated municipal magazine called "Memphis Commission Government," and in the June number we find this concerning the purchasing plan of the Tennessee metropolis:

"Municipal Engineering, one of the recognized authorities on municipal affairs, published at Indianapolis, Ind., pays a splendid tribute to Memphis' system of purchasing city supplies in its April edition. Under the caption, 'Men Prominent in Municipal Affairs,' appears an article highly complimentary to City Purchasing Agent J. T. Miskeal, who is in charge of this department.

"The great loss due to the buying of supplies for a city by separate departments without the co-operation of other departments has been very successfully overcome by the city of Memphis; says Municipal Engineering. Then follows a column and a half devoted to a recital of the Commission government plan, as applied here, which has heretofore been treated in these columns.

"The purchasing department is one of the most effective cogs in the machinery of Memphis' government, and its successful operation has resulted in the saving of thousands of dollars annually to the city."

Municipal Engineering itself is a publication which is taking high rank in helping along the matter of efficiency in municipal management. It largely aids in the study of municipal problems, and unless there is study no city can hope to make progress. The men responsible for a city's management have to do the studying if they ever hope to succeed. They have to do the studying for the public.

RATES THAT WILL DEVELOP

The recent action of the Inter-State Commerce Commission in lowering the rate on glass to North Carolina furniture manufacturing points, is bound to help the railroads as well as the cabinet industry in this State. It will encourage and enlarge the industry, and certainly that means more business for the railroads. North Carolina is the second furniture manufacturing State in the United States, and there is no reason why this industry should not grow to larger proportions and make more business for the railroads. Referring to the reduction in favor of the cabinet industry, the Charlotte Observer comments:

"So far as The Observer has been able to keep up with the disposition of freight rate complaints by the Inter-State Commerce Commission, that body has acted fairly by both the railroads and the people. In some cases where the complaint was not sufficiently established, the Commission has decided on the part of the company complained against, but it has been invariably the case that where the facts of the complaint were established, the ruling has been in favor of the complainant. A case in point is the recent disposal of the High Point contention for cheaper rates on glass. The manufacturers of the North Carolina town presented the facts and figures and the Commission at once ordered the railroads to make an equitable reduction. We cannot recall a decision that would support the belief expressed in some quarters that the Inter-State Commerce Commission is 'the friend of the railroads.' The Observer is confident that when the North Carolina situation is presented in whole to that body, the same relief will be granted as in individual cases. The trouble seems to be anticipated delay in securing the attention of the Commission, but it is probable that a special hearing could be arranged. At any rate, a movement in that direction might be started, pending the outcome of the State's efforts to bring the roads to terms."

It is taken that the people of North Carolina do not desire to take any advantage of the railroads, and it is a correct view that the Inter-State Commerce Commission should exercise the functions of equity as between the public contentions on the one side and those of the railroads on the other. The Commission is the arbiter and holds the scales so that things may be evened up.

It is simply provoking to Republicans that times are too good to have a panic during the first year of a Democratic administration. The calamity howlers may as well quit and keep up with the procession.

AN UNEQUAL DIVISION.

Freight Rates Do Not Accord With Distance—Case in Point.

"Do you remember those problems that you used to solve in proportion?" asked a gentleman yesterday who is interested in the fight for fair freight rates in North Carolina, "Well, perhaps you don't," he continued, "but, anyway, you know that four times two is eight, and that 50 is about 95 per cent. of 54. At least that's the way it is in arithmetic, but when you come to figure railroad rates, it's different. Then 4 times 2 is 3, or practically anything else that the rate gods want to call it.

"Here's a concrete example: The distance from Brazil, Ind., to Petersburg, Va., is approximately 800 miles, and the distance from Petersburg to Wilmington is about 225 miles. In shipping pianos from Brazil to Wilmington via Petersburg, it strikes a layman that the rate from Brazil to Petersburg ought to be about four-fifths of the rate for the entire distance, or to Wilmington. But that's wrong, according to the rates now in vogue. To divide it up that way would be in accordance with those ancient problems in 'rule of three' that used to be so popular in school rooms, but which are now antiquated. There's a more modern way of figuring.

"The Grand Piano Co., doing business at No. 11 Princess street, last week received a carload of pianos from Brazil, Ind., via Petersburg, and they found that the rate from Brazil to Petersburg, a distance of 800 miles, was 50 cents a hundred pounds, while the rate from Petersburg to Wilmington, a distance of 800 miles, was 54 cents a hundred. That's the way the railroads and the Inter-State Commerce Commission figure it. How do you?"

FORM RATE ASSOCIATION

Secretary Hubert Ramseur Here to See Business Men

Mr. Hubert Ramseur, organizing secretary of the State Just Freight Rate Association, arrived last night to organize a branch of the State association in this city and county. He will spend today conferring with the business men of the city with the view of arranging for a public meeting tomorrow.

Mr. Ramseur is an enthusiast on the subject and has been going from county to county for several weeks, organizing the shippers in order that the State may be put into fighting trim for securing a readjustment of freight rates so that North Carolina may be put on the same footing as other States, particularly Virginia.

The members of the party wtre Messrs. W. C. Carrington, Sam Reid, W. C. Brown, W. C. Bright, Jim Burns, W. M. Poston, Martin Schulken and Charles A. Bland.

The Seashore Hotel orchestra has arrived, and gave their first concert last night. The leader is Mr. Claude Elam, who was formerly with the Jefferson Hotel, at Richmond, Va. Concerts at the hotel will be given each afternoon and evening during the remainder of the Summer. Mr. Elam was director of the orchestra lase season.

Sunday-like weather prevailed Sunday and sent hundreds of Wilmingtonians to the beach to enjoy the cooling breezes. The Tidewater Power Company hauled about 3,000 people. There were an unusually large number of bathers in the surf. From Lumina alone there were 450 bathers. A large number went in from each of the hotels. It was the first big day the bath houses have had this season.

Music-lovers at the beach greatly enjoyed and very warmly applauded the trombone solo, "When I Lost You," by Mr. Lyle Cox, of the Lumina Orchestra Sunday afternoon—were so enthusiastic, in fact, that he repeated it Sunday night, by request. Talking of this, it may be mentioned that some of the music-lovers would like very much to hear a rendition of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," by the Lumina artists.

The Atlanta American of Sunday says that Mrs. J. Frank Meador, of Atlanta, expects to spend the Summer at Wrightsville Beach and Toxaway, N. C. Mrs. Meador, who is considered one of the most beautiful of the many beautiful women of Atlanta, spent several weeks at the beach last season and made many friends who will be glad to learn that she expects to spend some time at the resort this Summer.

Under the management of Nathan Bros., Lumina Restaurant and the hotel and bath house of the Ocean View Hotel Co. have opened for the season. The bath house is located next north of Lumina, being the building that was used for a short time last year for a moving picture theatre. The rooms, all outside, are large and well ventilated. Each room has a window 16x20 inches in size. Bathing facilities are provided for both men and women. The rooms in the hotel are being rented by the week and month. FEDERAL POINT ROAD

Work of Cutting Out Right-of-Way Begun—Stokes' Successor

Work of cutting out the right-of-way for the continuation of the Federal Point road to Carolina Beach from the point where it will branch off from the present improved road at the Horn place was begun last week. When this has been completed a force will be put to grading the roadbed. It is said that not a great amount of grading will be necessary. The road will be run down the center of the peninsula and it will be about an equal distance between Carolina Beach and the pier at the point where it crosses the tracks of the railroad owned by the New Hanover Transit Co. It will be about six miles in length, from the Horn place to the railroad tracks. The rock for macadamizing the road will be furnished the county free of any cost by Messrs. A. W. Pate and Joseph J. Loughlin, who compose the New Hanover Transit Co., which firm controls Carolina Beach.

Mr. R. A. Burnett, superintendent of roads, stated yesterday that Mr. Grady Cook, who has been with the county for a number of years, had been made superintendent of the convict camp to take the place of Mr. Tom Stokes, who left for other parts last week, following his indictment in the Recorder's court on a charge of immoral conduct, offense alleged to have been committed in the city.

Charles Wiley, colored, a member of the convict force at work on the road at Castle Haynes, came to the city Sunday to see his friends. He was arrested by a police officer. Wiley has been a "trusty" for about three months and took advantage of the privilege allowed him to come to the city for a little stay. As a result he has had the privileges of a "trusty" taken away from him.

SELECT CAROLINA BEACH.

Boys' Brigade Will Have Annual Encampment There This Year.

Members of the Boys' Brigade, at the regular business meeting last night, by unanimous vote, decided to hold the annual encampment this year at Carolina Beach and selected July 18th as the date for going into camp. They will be in camp for about eight days. Members of Company C, composed of the younger members of the organization, will go into camp on July 11th, and return to the city the day before Companies A and B leave for the resort.

For the past several years the annual encampment has been held at Southport, where all the paraphernalia is now stored. About three days before the date for the encampment to begin Mr. Chas. Dushan, the secretary, will go down to Southport and transfer the Brigade property from Southport to the new camping ground. A committee will be sent to the beach to select the spot for the tents. Members of the Brigade are looking forward with keen interest to the encampment.

Work of repairing the damage done the Brigade armory by the fire a few weeks ago is progressing very rapidly and the regular work of the institution will be resumed in about ten days.

At the meeting last night Col. Walker Taylor, commander of the Brigade, made a most interesting talk, detailing some of the incidents of his recent trip to Winston-Salem. While in the Twin-City Col. Taylor, with the other Pythians in attendance upon the meeting of the Grand Lodge, visited some of the tobacco factories, and Col. Taylor in his remarks last night told the Brigade members in a most interesting way of the various stages of manufacture through which tobacco passes from the leaf to the plug.

UNVEILING BY WOODMEN.

Services in Memory of Bertram Adkins at Southport Sunday.

Members of Live Oak Camp No. 6, will unveil a monument to Bertram Adkins, in the cemetery at Southport, next Sunday, June 22nd. The lodge will go down in a body, leaving on the steamer Wilmington. The programme for the exercises has not been completed, but will be announced in full during the week, together with announcements concerning the trip down the river. The monument, like all Woodmen memorials, is a very attractive one. This fraternal order has the very admirable practice of placing a monument at the grave of every deceased brother.

Funral of Mrs. Benson

The body of Mrs. Annie Eliza Benson, whose death occurred Saturday afternoon, was taken to Point Caswell Sunday on the morning train for interment after funeral services at the residence, No. 707 North Fifth street, conducted by Rev. W. G. Hall, pastor of Southside Baptist church, assisted by Rev. J. A. Sullivan, pastor of Brooklyn Baptist church. There was a short ceremony at the grave conducted by the local minister.

Try Skin Absorption Instead of Cosmetics

(From the Woman Militant.)

The constant use of rouge and powder invites a coarsened, roughened condition of the skin, eruptions, enlarged pores and wrinkles. If you've learned this from experience, suppose you quit cosmetics and try what I recommend.

Ask your druggist for an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax and begin using this tonight. Apply like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Keep this up for a week or two. The wax will literally absorb the coarse, colorless or blemished top skin, but so gradually as not to discommode you at all. Just as gradually the clear, velvety, naturally-tinted underskin comes to the surface. And mercolized wax becomes your everlasting friend.

For those wrinkles and large pores, make a face bath by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This has remarkable astringent and tonic properties, and beneficial results come quickly.

WEDDING OF MR. N. C. CURTIS AND MISS ELIZABETH L. THACH

Auburn, Ala., June 16.—A wedding of wide interest was solemnized in historic Auburn Methodist church at twilight Thursday, June 12th, when Miss Elizabeth Lockhart Thach, daughter of Dr. Chas. C. Thach, president of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, was united in marriage to Mr. Nathaniel Cotland Curtis, of Tulane University, formerly of Southport, N. C. The church was simply but artistically decorated in white and green, the chancel and choir loft being draped in Southern smilax while palms and ferns were banked in profusion in each side of the organ which was studded with magnolias. White tapers in silver together with the twilight glow furnished the only light, making appropriate the song, "Just at Twilight," rendered by Miss Mamie Harrison, of Opelika, just before the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. John C. Janes, of Auburn. The ushers were Messrs. C. C. Certain, of Birmingham; Chas. Thach, Jr., Thomas Bragg and B. L. Shi, of Auburn. Their entrance as the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March pealed forth was followed by that of the matron of honor, Mrs. William Mercer Cohen, of North Carolina, who carried an arm cluster of pink peonies and whose brunette beauty was enhanced by a handsome gown of crepe de chine, and the maid of honor, Miss Otis David Thach, who wore white brocade satin draped in embroidered chiffon, also carrying an arm cluster of peonies. They were followed by the lovely flower girls, little Misses Martha Powers, of Montgomery; Eileen Donahue and Frances Mitcham, and the ring-bearer, little Miss Sarah Hall Crewnshaw, of Auburn, all wearing white lingerie frocks with touches of pink. The bride entered on the arm of her father, Dr. C. Thach, and was met at the alr by the groom and his best man, his brother, Mr. Howard Curtis, of North Carolina. The bride's gown was an exquisite white charmeuse, hand-embroidered and trimmed in real lace and seed pearls. The veil was caught in ca effect with orange blossoms, and was of interest because it had been used by seven of her classmates at Converse College, she being the eighth to wear it. The flowers were Bride rose showered with lilies of the valley. The wedding music was by Miss Mae Casey.

The wedding tour will include Washington City and points in the North Carolina mountains, and later the couple will visit the groom's home at Southport. They will be at home after October 1st, No. 1506 Calhoun street, New Orleans, La. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. William M. Cohen and Mrs. Walter G. Curtis, of North Carolina. Guests attended from South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi, and the event was one long to be remembered in Auburn social circles.

MR. MURRAY RESIGNS.

Union Ticket Agent to Give All Time to Transfer Business.

After a continuous service with the Atlantic Coast Line since September, 1901, Mr. Claude Murray, city ticket agent at the union station here, on Saturday left the employ of the company to give all his time to the business of The Orton Transfer with which he has been identified for some time. On the same date it was announced that The Orton Transfer in future would handle all baggage for Wrightsville Beach and a special car of the transfer company will go on the Tidewater Power Company lines this morning. This will be in addition to the general transfer business conducted by the company for some time past, and it is believed that a much improved and much more satisfactory service will be maintained.

Mr. Murray is succeeded as city ticket agent by Mr. Chas. M. Acker, a clever and popular attache of the office for some time. He is a brother of Mr. O. B. Acker, union ticket agent at Jacksonville, Fla., and has himself seen service at several important points on the Coast Line. The departure of Mr. Murray from the Coast Line service will be generally regretted by the traveling public. Always courteous and accommodating, yet mindful of his obligations to the company as its agent, he has made an ideal ticket agent and friends everywhere will wish for him a large measure of success in his new business.

He had been in the fire service five or six years.

The fire to which the department was responding was in the servants' quarters of Mr. Brooks' handsome home and damage to the extent of about $100 was done. The alarm went in at 11:15 P. M.

He will make such recommendations as he may deem necessary for a continuance of the splendid health and sanitary conditions that have existed at the resort in the past. This will be Dr. Nesbitt's first official visit to the beach.

IN THE CANAL ZONE.

Permanent Government Not Effective Until Formal Opening.

Washington, June 16.—Plans for a permanent government on the Canal Zone will not go into effect until the formal opening of the canal in January, 1915, Secretary Garrison announced today. In the meantime the zone government will continue as heretofore, with such modifications as changing conditions may demand.

Secretary Garrison has conferred frequently during the past week with Col. Goethals, chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission, and he has asked the colonel to submit from time to time recommendations as to the organization of a permanent government.

It is practically certain that the government will continue to operate the Panama railroad after the canal is completed, Secretary Garrison said, as it would be necessary to have a means for the transportation of troops and supplies, in the event the canal should be out of commission at any time. The future of the railroad will be considered at a meeting of the directors to be held here next Thursday.

DIED HUNTING WHISKEY

Wilson Negress Was Advance Agent for Blind Tiger

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., June 16.—Ella Clark, the negro woman who dropped dead Friday on one of the business streets, was acting as advance agent for a blind tiger, according to the evidence secured by the local officials. Two white men had given the Clark woman money for whiskey and she went after it. Meeting a negro, she gave him the money, and he secured the liquor, but when he came back with it the woman was lying dead. The police arrested four suspected blind tigers Saturday evening but the evidence was insufficient to hold two of them and they were released. The others were bound over for trial.

HOLDING OPEN APPOINTMENT.

President Trying to Persuade McCombs to Accept Embassy.

Washington, June 16.—President Wilson is still holding open the ambassadorship to France for William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Within the last few days President Wilson cabled Mr. McCombs, nqurng whether after his sojourn in France he had changed his mind about taking the Paris embassy. No reply was received.

RETURNS DIAMOND RING.

Sheriff Receives Jewel by Mail—Finder Obscures Identity.

Springfield, Ill., June 16.—Sheriff Mester today received by mail an envelope containing a solitaire diamond ring which was stolen from the finger of Emil Irvson, one of three Chicago merchants killed in a recent automobile accident near here. There was no note accompanying the ring.

COMPETITION WAS FAIR.

Says Witness in Anti-Trust Suit Against Harvester Company.

Chicago, June 16.—At today's hearing of the International Harvester Company anti-trust suit, F. H. Miller, a manufacturer of Doylestown, O., testified that he found the competition of the big corporation "fair." It was brought out that Miller made 100 binders last year as compared with 100,000 made by the International.

THIEF CONFESSES

Gentleman Burglar Pleads Guilty—Sentenced Saturday

San Francisco, Cal., June 16.—Owen D. Conn, known as "The $100,000 Burglar," pleaded guilty today and will receive sentence Saturday. In two years, according to his confession, Conn looted homes in broad daylight of over $100,000 worth of valuables.

TO PROVIDE FUNDS

Government Will Appropriate Money to Construct Alaskan Railways

Washington, June 16.—The Senate Territories committee today agreed upon a bill for government construction of railroads in Alaska. It will provide for $40,000,000 in bonds to finance the undertaking and leave entire control to the President.

DEATH FROM HEAT.

Government Thermometer Registers 104 Degrees in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., June 16.—One death from heat prostration occurred here today. The government thermometer at the street level registered 104 degrees at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Blankets Grow on Trees.

Blankets grow on trees in Ecuador, and while the idea of an all wool, fresh from the forest, bed covering might give insomnia and a backache to the child of civilization who likes to snuggle comfortably under several layers of down and wool, the natives find it all right, as in fact it is.

When an Ecuador Indian wants a blanket, he hunts up a demajagua tree and cuts from it a five or six foot section of the peculiarly soft, thick bark. This is dampened and beaten until the flexibility of the sheet is much increased.

The rough gray exterior is next peeled off and the sheet dried in the sun. The result is a blanket, soft, light and fairly warm, of an attractive cream color. It may be rolled into a compact bundle without hurt and with ordinary usage will last for several years.

Birds Commit Suicide.

A very strange occurrence in national history has been seen in the flooded country of the Fen district in eastern England. A narrow bank runs alongside a flooded area of nearly 2,000 acres. Walking along this with intention of learning what had happened to his partridges, a keeper put up a covey. It flew in the direction of the longest arm of the flood. The birds, which were rather a late-hatched covey, after flying some distance, suddenly and at one moment together dropped into the water and were all drowned.

It has been much discussed lately how the partridges are able to fly, but the curious part of this collapse was that the whole number fell simultaneously, as if they had decided to die together.

Sewanee, Tenn., June 16.—Rev. Albion Williamson Knight, Episcopal bishop of Cuba, was elected vice chancellor of the University of the South at a meeting of the board of trustees here today. He succeeds Dr. W. H. Hall, resigned.

PROPER DEALING OF JUSTICE

Judge's Stern Rebuke of Would-Be Briber Accompanied With Appropriate Reduction of "Sock."

The justice of the peace was in a marked state of ignorance. He was approached by a man desiring a divorce, and he did not know what to do. Calling a friend to his side, he whispered:

"What's the law on this point?"

"You can't do it," was the reply. "It's out of your jurisdiction."

The husband, observing the consultation, and feeling keenly his desire to escape from the matrimonial woe, explained:

"I'm willin' to pay well; got the money right here in my sock."

At this juncture the justice assumed his gravest judicial air. Obviously he was deeply pained. Never before in all his life had he been so bowed down by grief.

"You knew before you came here," he said sadly, "that it wasn't for me to separate husband and wife, and yet you not only take up the valuable time of this court by talking, but you actually propose to bribe me with money. Now, how much have you got in that sock?"

"About $6.50, your honor."

"Is that so? Then I fine you $5 for bribery and $1.50 for taking up my time with a case out of my jurisdiction; and may the Lord have mercy on your soul!"—Popular Magazine.

HAD IT PROPERLY NAMED

English Sailor May Have Forgotten Politeness, but He Had Appropriately Designated Dish.

A certain London clergyman who had been traveling in Greece found himself compelled to stay the night at a monastery at Mount Athos. The welcome was warm, but the food execrable, in particular the soup, which the guest could hardly force himself to swallow. Being a classical scholar, his knowledge of ancient Greek helped him to some understanding of the monks, who spoke the widely different modern tongue, and he was astonished to hear that the unpalatable soup was an English dish.

"English!" cried one of the monks, adding that an English sailor had been there not long before and recognized it.

"What did he call it?" asked the clergyman.

The monk had to think for a moment before he could recollect the strange English name of that soup. Ah! he had it. It was "bees'ly muck!"

Mechanical Horse.

A real "mechanical horse" is being experimented with abroad. It is a "tractor" that is easily hitched to any horse-drawn vehicle, just as a team of horses may be, and combines all the advantages of the horse with those of the auto truck at an exceedingly low price. The outfit comprises a steel bar and coupler and sprocket wheels designed to be attached to the wheels and tongue of the wagon. There is only one wheel on the "horse" and that is at the front, the most of the support for the tractor depending upon the front wagon wheels by which it is driven. The engine, mounted under the front hood as in an automobile, is of 40 or 50 horse power and drives the wagon at a speed of from 8 to 30 miles an hour, the latter speed only being used when it is designed for fire engine service. The front wheel is used to steer by and it allows a turn being made at an angle of 85 degrees, thus giving remarkable turning ability in narrow streets. One of the greatest advantages of the "mechanical horse" is the fact that it may be kept constantly at work while unloading or loading is going on.

Cement Gun.

There is a cement gun which is used to apply a mortar covering to structural steel work. A mixture of dry sand and cement is shot from a nozzle by compressed air. A second hose delivers to the same nozzle a supply of water under pressure, and the mixture of sand, cement and water is shot out with a velocity of about 350 feet a second. The nozzle is arranged to produce a thorough wetting of the material. As the mixture strikes the surface to be covered, the coarse sand grains rebound until the fine cement mortar, which adheres immediately, has formed a plastic base in which the coarse particles become imbedded. A covering of any required thickness is then rapidly built up.

One of these guns has been used on the Panama canal in covering the sides of the Culebra cut with cement, to prevent the unstable earth from sliding into the canal.

Evansville, Ind., June 16.—Today was the hottest day of the year. Street thermometers registered 108 at noon.

STRIKERS RIOT

Disastrous Result from Collision Between Strikers and Employes

San Francisco, June 16.—In a riot in the downtown district late today resulting from a collision between strikers and employes of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, William Erfger was shot in the leg, Miles M. Sykes was severly beaten and Policeman Charles Russell's helmet was shot from his head by Sykes.

Sykes is employed as a guard by the gas company. He became involved in a dispute with strikers and a general fight followed. Just as Policeman Russell rushed up, Sykes opened fire on the strikers and their sympathizers.

TRIED TO SMUGGLE AMMUNITION

Former Mexican Rebel Leader Charged With Conspiracy.

El Paso, Tex., June 16.—Inez Salazar, a former Mexican Rebel leader, now commanding Federal irregulars, was arrested here today charged with conspiring to smuggle ammunition. The charge arises out of an act attributed to Salazar, when he was in arms against Madero. He crossed to El Paso this afternoon and was arrested.

Presence of Mind.

An Englishman in traveling through Ceylon was the guest of a dockyard official at Trincomalee.

"The dinner was excellent," he says, "but when it was about half over I was startled by hearing the wife of my host tell the native servant to place a bowl of milk on a deer-skin near her chair.

"Although she spoke as calmly as if giving an ordinary order, I knew at once there was a snake somewhere in the room, for they prefer milk to anything else. As a hasty movement might have meant certain death, we all sat like statues; but, for all that, my eyes were inspecting every nook and corner, with a peep under the table. However, it was not until the milk was placed on the deer-skin that the snake appeared. And then, to our amazement, a large cobra uncoiled itself from my hostess's ankle and glided towards the bowl, when, of ccurse, it was immediately killed.

"But just fancy the nerve of the woman, though she fainted when the thing lay dead on the floor. How many could have remained motionless in such circumstances?"

Tamed by a Threat.

"I will," she exclaimed— "I will not live with you another day!"

"You'll leave me, will you?" he calmly asked.

"Yes, I will."

"When?"

"Now—this minute!"

"I wouldn't, if I were you."

"But I will, and I defy you to stop me!"

"Oh, I sha'n't try to stop you," he quietly replied. "I will simply report to the police that my wife has mysteriously disappeared. They'll want your description, and I will give it. You wear No. 8 shoes; you have an extra large mouth; your nose turns up at the end; eyes rather on the glint; voice like a—"

"Wretch, you wouldn't dare do that?" she screamed.

"I will."

They glared at each other for a moment in silence. Then it was plain to see who was the victor.

Brave Fire Laddies.

A local automobile factory has a well-drilled fire corps, composed of factory employees. The corps had a chance to demonstrate its ability when a neighboring factory building burned.

The captain of the factory fire company called his men together after they had grabbed what they thought were fire extinguishers. As he started to give the order to turn the extinguishers on the roof, where some sparks from the neighboring fire had fallen, it was discovered every man was armed with a gas tank like those used in automobiles.

TRINITY COLLEGE IDEALS

Statement of Trustees Called Forth by Recent Large Gifts—College Stands for Loyalty to the Church and State.

In final session at the recent commencement at Trinity College, the board of trustees adopted the following statement, which has just been issued to the public:

"It is with a deep sense of gratitude to the kind Providence which has guided the destiny of Trinity College through the years of its service that we, the trustees, announce to the public additional gifts to the college of $1,418,061.89; of which amount $321,811.77 goes into material equipment, and $1,096,250.12 to the permanent endowment fund. At this particular time we deem it our duty not only to express publicly our thanksgiving for this good fortune, but also to make known our desires and aims in administering for the general good such a large trust committed to our direction.

While Trinity College is the creation of the Church, we recognize that as an institution of learning it is in the most essential way related to every supreme interest of society. And we feel that without impropriety we may say that it has at all times been our fixed purpose to direct the affairs of this college so that it might fill in every respect the high mission appointed to it.

"We are mindful of the fact that Trinity College derives its rights and protection from the commonwealth of North Carolina. It is, therefore, our bounden duty to render to the State honor and obedience, not grudgingly but out of loyal patriotism and a good conscience. In the administration of Trinity College it has been a fixed purpose to guard as sacred all the noble and heroic traditions which belong to our history and to cultivate in the minds of young students a sincere regard for these heritages. And we feel that it would be nothing short of treason for this college not to labor constantly to the end that there shall be trained here young citizens who shall love the State, obey its laws, respect its authority, and devote themselves to its best welfare. We equally hold it to be our solemn duty to do all we can to correct every form of error, to arrest every hurtful tendency, and to oppose everything which engenders injustice, intolerance, partisanship, indolence, or social despotism, to the end that the life of the State may be fine and just. Here shall be encouraged every noble spirit, nursed every laudable ambition, defended every true public cause, and aided every earnest youth, regardless of his circumstances. Solely upon fidelity to these aims do we dare ask the confidence of the commonwealth or the esteem of serious persons.

"Beyond our duty to the Commonwealth we recognize and keep in mind our duty to the Nation. We desire that this college, whose affairs are under our control, shall earnestly labor to cultivate a spirit of sound nationalism. And more especially are we concerned to fill this mission to the Nation at this time of uncertainty and turmoil. Tremendous tasks confront our great Republic, too large in their scope and too profound in their meaning to be met by a provincial spirit or a local zeal; and we count it a pressing obligation upon this college to give its best endeavors to training its students for the needs of the Nation. We shall discourage every disposition towards a hurtful sectionalism or a selfish localism, that we may nourish in young Americans a faith, a hope, and a devotion as broad as the great country to which they belong. Whatever is sacred in our National history, whatever is virtuous in the character of its heroic sons, whatever is exalting in the multitude of its illustrious examples, and whatever deserves the praise of a loyal citizen, regardless of where it may have occurred or by whom it may have been done, shall be duly valued and jealously guarded in the spirit and work of Trinity College.

"But while Trinity College holds all its legal rights from the State and owes to the State and the Nation loyal service, it is the creation of a Christian church whose members are citizens of the Commonwealth which they love and honor with deepest devotion. We hold as fundamental truth that a sound religious faith is the basis of true government, of moral character, and of a progressive civilization. Acting upon this assurance we are exceedingly careful that this college shall hold in their integrity all the cardinal truths of the Christian religion and devoutly endeavor to make them clear to the minds of young students, knowing that the decay of religious faith and the decline of religious zeal must weaken a civilization at every vital point. Our Nation does not need less, but more of sound religious belief and life. So without lending any aid to sectarian strifes or party conflicts, we shall at all times insist that Trinity College avow its unyielding faith in the Christian religion, its reverence for the Christian church in all its branches, and its belief in the Holy Scriptures as the volume of divine revelation. And this we shall do out of regard for every necessary interest of human life and the welfare of State and society.

"We can not accept the idea that an institution of learning is a community removed from the scenes of toil, strife, and responsibilities. As a community composed of a body of men possessing accurate knowledge and capable of large helpfulness, it is charged with extraordinary obligations to render a share of work proportionate to its endowment of power. The college man should always have his place in the scenes of hardest tasks and most pressing needs. Confirmed as we are in this belief, we wish Trinity College to be accounted a part of our social machinery and to be administered as an agent of good. The questions which must at all times disturb society in every sphere of its activities, especially in a period of progress, call for wisdom, courage, and patient toil; and the college should not wish to escape the hardships and sacrifices which belong to active service in any field of work. It is surely no less the duty of the college to promote social purity, political honesty, industrial fairness, commercial honor, and religious integrity than to impart information in literature, science, and philosophy. And at a time of passion and confusion the clearest voice, the voice freest from the prejudice of class interests, political greeds, and industrial spites should come from the college. It is, therefore, our earnest wish so to direct Trinity College that it may do its full share of work in every scene of human need and human toil.

"We rejoice to feel that in the large benefactions which this college has received not only the State of North Carolina, but our sister States shall share in the benefits, and that especially every Southern college shall partake of the good fortune which has come to this college. It marks a new epoch in the history of Southern education in that it fixes a new standard of investments in Southern institutions of learning. We acknowledge with gratitude our indebtedness to those who by their donations have created this new era in Southern education and accord them all honor as patriotic leaders, assuring them that we shall hold and earnestly labor so to administer their benevolences that the benefits shall not be selfishly enjoyed but made to render the widest service to all classes of men.

"In sending forth this statement we have been moved by no other purpose than to give the public at this particular time a knowledge of the motives that actuate us and the ends we seek to attain in discharging our duties in the administration of this public trust placed in our hands. Rejoicing over what has been accomplished in the past, sending our congratulations to all who truly labor for the public good, and invoking the guidance of Providence upon our State and Nation, we pledge ourselves to do what in us lies to promote all good and put down all evil."

NATIONAL FOREST TIMBER.

No Danger of Exhausting It Says Chief Forester Graves.

Washington, June 14.—That the great increase in sales of National forest timber will not dangerously deplete the country's wood supply is the declaration of Chief Forester Henry S. Graves in a statement made public today.

"There is no danger of cutting off the National forests too rapidly," said Mr. Graves, "nor will our sales strengthen the control of the lumbering industry by a few powerful companies. In every individual sale specific provisions are made to safeguard the public interest in both these particulars.

"Not long ago the policy of conservation, as applied to the National forests, was supposed to mean that the government's timber resources were indefinitely tied up. Now the fear is expressed that we are cutting too much timber—the other extreme. Because the Forest Service is advertising widely by commercial methods its more extensive sales and securing the utmost possible competition, some people have apparently jumped to the conclusion that the Forest Service aims to cut off all the National Forest timber within a few years. Or it is assumed that we are making sales chiefly to the larger lumber companies, and thereby playing into the hands of big lumber interests.

"The function of the Forest Service is primarily to avoid just those dangers; the evils of unscientific lumbering and the fostering of monopoly. How these evils are guarded against is illustrated in our recent sales.

"The Forest Service recently advertised about 245 million feet of timber on the Kaniksu National forest in the northwest corner of Idaho, the first large sales in this locality. The Kaniksu forest contains, as a matter of fact, nearly 2,730,000,000 feet of merchantable stumpage. Ten years will be required to cut the amount advertised, which is only one-tenth of the total stand on the forest. In other words, about 1 per cent. of the timber on this forest will be cut off annually, no more than is being produced every year by growth. The timber advertised has been awarded to two relatively small local lumber companies, which have no affiliations with large timber corporations and own but very small quantities of timber themselves.

"A number of recent sales have been made on the Whitman National forest in the Blue Mountains of northeastern Oregon. Within the last three years nearly 262,000,000 feet have been contracted for on this forest. From seven to ten years will be required to cut this timber, which is less than 7 1-8 per cent. of the amount on the whole forest. The Whitman timber which has been sold is split up into four separate contracts, of from 56 million to 73 million feet each, to four separate and independent local companies. This can hardly be called promoting a monopoly.

"A number of smaller sales have been made in the same general region to different local lumber companies. For example, we have made one sale of 36 million feet on the Lolo National forest in western Montana, out of a total stand of over two billion feet. Another sale of 65 million feet has been made on the Columbia National forest in Washington, where he have altogether nearly seven billion feet of merchantable timber.

"To utilize the annual growth of wood on the National forests the service is endeavoring to increase the amount of its sales and hopes to soon reach an annual business of three billion feet, which is about half of the estimated annual growth on the forests. Small sales are always made wherever possible, and in making large sales the amount disposed of to a single purchaser is no greater than will justify the investment necessary for logging improvements. Sales to companies which have large holdings of their own are not made if there is any other demand for the timber or if a monopoly would result."

CARE OF EGGS ON THE FARM.

Millions Lost Every Year, Because Eggs Not Looked After.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Every year there is a loss of millions of dollars in bad eggs, the direct result of hap-hazard methods of production, marketing, and shipping, which are now in vogue in many States. The greatest part of this loss is due mainly to ignorance or indifference on the part of the farmer and producer, and only a small part is caused by carelessness on the part of the buyer and shipper.

With a view to determining the causes of the great loss in eggs, the United States Department of Agriculture undertook a thorough investigation of the problem, and in its latest publication on the subject (Bulletin 160, Bureau of Animal Industry) are presented the results of experiments conducted in Kansas to determine what deterioration took place in eggs when retained under typical conditions on the farms, in the country store and during transportation.

The field chosen for the work was one where the production and marketing of eggs was an important factor, a location where the co-operation of several farmers could be secured, and a town that was far enough from a central collecting point so that the effect of typical transportation conditions could be observed. The eggs were collected at a stated time each day from several farms, and every egg, fertile or infertile, was supposed to be absolutely fresh when entered in the experiments.

The different tests included keeping eggs in dwelling house, in cyclone cave, in nests provided for laying hens, eggs placed under sitting hen, under corn crib, in nest in weeds or underbrush, in nest in straw stack, and in stolen ensts, for periods varying from two to seven days.

The tests emphasized the fact that infertile eggs keep better than fertile. One third of the annual loss in eggs is due to "blood rings." A blood ring is caused by the development and subsequent death of the embryo of a fertile egg subjected to heat. No embryo can develop in an infertile egg, no matter how long it may be subjected to heat. Unless cooled at once and kept cool, a fertile egg will spoil in hot weather almost as quickly as raw milk.

Some of the loss due to "rots" and "spots" is caused by contamination in the nest, and is largely, if not entirely, preventable.

Among the results of the tests it was found that:

Eggs kept in the cyclone cave proved much better in quality than those kept under other conditions.

Taking the season as a whole, an unheated room in a dwelling is not conducive to good quality in eggs.

During the hot Summer months the conditions surrounding the weed nest, the nest in the straw stack, or under the corn crib, and the stolen nest, as well as the keeping of eggs in the house, favor the production of spots, blood rings and rots.

Infertile eggs, regardless of where they may be kept, are much more resistant to deterioration than fertile.

Two-thirds of the total loss in fertile and infertile eggs takes place on the farm. The basic factors responsible for this condition are the haphazard methods of poultry management on the farm.

The results of all the experimental work point to the fact that the production of the infertile egg is the greatest asset in the attempt to produce high quality market eggs during hot weather.

To assure a high quality of product and prevent in a large measure the loss now experienced in the value of the country's egg production, producers are urged to observe the following five simple rules:

Give the hens clean nests; gather eggs at least once daily; keep eggs in a cool, dry place; market eggs at least twice a week; kill or sell all mature male birds, as soon as the hatching season closes.

CAVALRY FIGHTS 50 YEARS AGO

To the Editor of The Star:

Leaving Brandy Station after the hard-fought and victorious battle of June 9th, 1863, Geeral Stuart moved his cavalry into Loudon and Farquier counties, Virginia, covering and protecting General Lee's advance into Pennsylvania.

On or about the 15th of June, Gen. James B. Gordon's brigade consisting of five regiments of cavalry, attacked and fought for a week the corps of General Pleasanton, from Middleton, in Loudon county, to Upperville, in Farquier county. The 5th Regiment, Maj. James H. McNeill commanding, attacked a Rhode Island regiment investing Middleburg, charging into the town about sunset on the 14th or 15th, and drove into the woods on the outskirts of the town, where they dismounted and for about 30 minutes poured a galling fire into our ranks. The 5th charged down a road flanked on each side by a fence, and for a while the firing was terrific. The writer's company, Company B, was in front, and Major McNeill ordered it to charge, but at the instant he was wounded in the hip and taken back to the village. The writer was near him when he was shot, and with about 40 members of his company, obeyed the order to charge. It was then quite dark and I called loudly that they bring up the brigade. The Rhode Islanders, supposing the brigade was charging, surrendered about 500 men and horses, including the major in command.

Next morning General Pleasanton, a good fighter, renewed the attack, and all day, the 15th of June, I think it was, we fought over the ground, and on for a week, the Confederates driving the enemy back and from one day to the next the Federals were reinforced and drove us back in turn, each stubbornly contesting the ground, sometimes charging on horseback, sometimes dismounted.

On Sunday, the 17th of June, about 2 P. M., the enemy charged our 5th Regiment vigorously, into the town of Upperville. Col. Peter G. Evans, just back from sick leave, was dangerously wounded and captured, being carried to Washington City, where he lingered for a week and died. He was a son-in-law of ex-Governor Morehead, of Greensboro, N. C. The next day we renewed the fight and drove the enemy back in haste toward Middleburg. Then passing through Ashby's Gap, we marched unmolested, crossed the Potomac at Williamsport, Md., over into Pennsylvania, marching via Chambersburg, then pushing on almost to Gettysburg, where we protected General Lee's right flank, etc.

DEMOCRACY OF WILSON

Charming Incident of His Simplicity and Utter Lack of Ostentation—Wins All Who Witnessed It—Col. Fort Sends Clipping.

President Wilson and several members of his family motored out of Washington one day during the week, and before they knew it had reached the environs of Baltimore. The Sun of that city tells of the trip, during which a little incident occurred which exhibited the President's democracy and utter lack of ostentation—an incident that appeals to Col. W. B. Fort, of Pikeville, N. C., who sends The Star the story.

They reached Baltimore unannounced and after going to a hotel and taking dinner in the public dining room, went away again without fuss or ceremony of any sort.

The whole visit of the President and his party was as simple and unostentatious as the visit of any other simple mannered American gentleman and his family would be. The party was out for a little automobile trip on a holiday and there was no reason for any display or ceremony of any sort. The President talked to no one except casually to one or two of his friends, who recognized him at the hotel, and held no conferences.

After reaching the city, it was suggested that they stop at the Dutch Tea Room for luncheon, but they found it filled. Several persons at table, recognizing the party, immediately offered their tables, but this was declined, and they went on to the hotel.

As soon as the party appeared the President was recognized by the hotel manager and every effort was made to make him and those with him comfortable. They were assigned to a room, where they made their preparations for dinner. Asked if they preferred to have their dinner served in a private dining room, the President replied:

"Oh, no; we will take our luncheon in the regular room."

As soon as they came down stairs, they were shown to a table near the centre of the room, hardly anyone in it recognizing the members of the party as they went to their places. A simple Maryland dinner was ordered and it was eaten leisurely, and when it was finished the waiter presented the check for it, as he would have done to any other customer of the hotel. The President glanced at it, ran up the total to see that he was paying for all he had received, and gave the waiter a new yellow backed bill, received his change in the regular order of things, tipped the waiter, and then he and his party arose and left the dining room, going to their apartment on the floor above to prepare for the continuance of their journey.

Just before his luncheon was served a lady accompanied by a little girl bearing a large and beautiful calla lily stopped at the President's table, and the little girl presented the lily to Mr Wilson, who thanked her. The lily was put in water and ornamented the President's table during the luncheon, and when the party left Mrs. Wilson had a waiter bring it to her, and she carried it with her to the car.

President Wilson was asked by a reporter the purpose of his visit to Baltimore.

"Simply to get something to eat," he replied. "You see," he continued, "we went out for a ride, and thought we would stop for luncheon at some little village on the route."

"Meaning Baltimore?"

The President laughed. "Not exactly. But we got so near Baltimore before we thought it time to eat that we decided to continue and take luncheon here. We go back to Washington this afternoon, although we may make a detour and take in a part of the Green Spring Valley. If we do, it will be only a detour."

Both the President and Mrs. Wilson were looking exceedingly well. When comment was made on the President's appearance, he replied that he felt unusually well, "and was enjoying his work."

Prof. Will S. Chamberlain was lunching at the Rennert with his wife and a friend when the President's party entered the dining room. As they passed out they stopped and shook hands with Dr. Wilson.

Later, Prof. Chamberlain, who is a lifelong Republican said:

"It was the way he did it all—just a part of the simplicity and genuine democracy of the man that appeals so strongly to me—that made me speak to him. I just had to shake his hand while I had the opportunity. He came into town, came to the hotel, had his luncheon and left just as any other American gentleman would have done—no more, no less."

As the party left Baltimore they passed a number of street cleaners at work and once again the President's democracy was exhibited, for the street cleaners waved their hands at him in salute, and he waved back, whereat the cleaners were mightily pleased.

MOUNTAIN FLOWER BEDS

The Blowing Rock Country—Where Nature Paints Wild Blossoms

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Green Park, N. C., June 14.—Surely if there is a Garden of Eden in the kingdom of man, it lies in the sunset land—a land kissed daily and hourly by the winds that leave their mountain pinnacles, and coquette with the monarchs of the forest, and the beautiful flora beneath their shade, as these winds frolic in joyous glee, and dance down to the valleys below.

The Blowing Rock country this year, as in the years past, is now fully adorned for Summer visitors, as beautiful as a bride adorned for her bridegroom. From the Rock itself, in a setting of wild scenic loveliness and magnificent pinnacled distances, rendering the effect strikingly impressive and beautiful, you view an ocean of mountain tops of unusual splendor, and the distant horizon is margined with glorious mountain majesty. At every turn and crook blooms rhododendren—queen of the mountain flora—lifting their mass of white and pink-tinted blossoms in stately dignity against the dark green of the woods, like vestal virgins before the emerald-hued altars of nature; with the mountain laurel threading the waysides, or nestling in shady dells, or clinging to the banks of the crystal streams, with complacent vanity, at their images reflected in the clear water mirrors. One feels like he wants to worship with these beautiful flowers, and their choir of birds, that thrill you with their glad songs, returning thanks for the countless, sweet, glad things, living and growing under the wide cerulean sky of such a beautiful and picturesque as nature has spread out in the Blowing Rock section for man's health and enjoyment.

Beautiful wild flowers bloom everywhere, smiling at you, toying in the breezes, and bidding you welcome to mountains enveloped in beauty. The woodland flowers and ferns of the Blowing Rock country form a lovely combination of colors; their golden hearts set off by petals of lilac and the dark, rich purple of the pansy velvet. They are fair as lilies, and as variegated as a trellis of sweet peas, even down to the modest little bluets, that remind you of little Quaker ladies, shining in clusters, here and there, like patches of blue sky and sunshine, fallen to earth, clasped in each other's arms. They appear to delight in giving their beauty to barren, stony places, where other green things will not grow, or hug old stumps, as if in loving sympathy for the tree's departed glory. No more interesting picture of sweetness is presented than a cluster of bluets in an old stump.

This glorious Blowing Rock country—where cool breezes are ever blowing so refreshingly—awaits the coming of those who love nature, beautiful scenery, refreshing rest and health, vigor and charming recreation.

Visitors have already begun to come in. The resorts are preparing for them in rapid haste. The Green Park Hotel opens on Monday next, the 16th. It is this year under the management of Mr. Howel Cobb, whose reputation in Durham, Greensboro and Raleigh, as a hotelist, is well known throughout the land as one who knows how to take care of his guests. The Green Park will afford every convenience for careful attention, pleasure and recreation, in a land 4,300 feet above sea level, whose climate and beauty cannot be excelled in America.

CLINTON GRADED SCHOOL

Closed Fine Year Last Week—Address by Mr. Whyte

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clinton, N. C., June 15.—The Clinton graded school had its closing exercises last week after an excellent session. There were held in the new $20,000 brick building recently erected, which is the pride of Clinton.

On Wednesday night the annual sermon was preached by Rev. M. A. Barber, rector of Christ Episcopal church, Raleigh. This was a most able, eloquent and practical sermon, and it is regrettable that a heavy downpour of rain continuing throughout the entire evening prevented many from hearing it. But the brave little band that defied the elements was simply rewarded by what it heard.

On Thursday night there was a reading contest by young ladies and debate by young men. All acquitted themselves handsomely. The reader's medal was won by Miss Mary Black and the debater's by Mr. Anson Jackson. On Thursday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, there was a reading contest by small girls. The prize on this occasion was won by little Miss Mary Dixon Hines.

Friday night the annual address was delivered by Mr. James P. Whyte, of Wilmington, on the subject of "A Well Rounded Education." Mr. Whyte, although long a citizen of this country, is a native Scotchman, and is an orator as well as a profound thinker. His address was practical as well as eloquent, and received the closest attention. Although his long residence on this side has worn off some of the Scotch burr, there was yet enough of it left to remove all doubt of where he first saw the light and to make his expression most delightful. Of fine presence and personality, as well as the rare gift of eloquent speech, he was heard gladly by our people, who account themselves fortunate in having him with them on this occasion. He was introduced by Mr. L. A. Bethune, chairman of the school board, who paid a fine tribute to Scotland, the native land of Mr. Whyte, which gave to the world the first idea and the first system of the public school.

The programme of the evening was interspersed with a number of choruses by the school. The numbers sung by a quartette composed of Mrs. C. C. Carroll, Miss Lula Cassidy, Rev. T. M. Lee and Prof. Strickland were much enjoyed. The medals and prizes were gracefully presented to the winners by Mr. L. L. Matthews, county superintendent of schools.

JUNE CROP CONDITIONS.

General Average But Slightly Lower Than Last Year.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—General crop conditions on June 1 averaged for the United States slightly lower (0.5 per cent. lower) than on same date last year, and also lower (1.1 per cent.) than the average condition on June 1 of recent years. Conditions are generally somewhat below average in States east of the Mississippi river, except Pennsylvania, Ohio, Wisconsin, Tennessee and Mississippi, and above average conditions west of the Mississippi river, except in North Dakota, Kansas, Oklahoma, Montana, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, and California.

Few States show any decided deviation from average condition; best conditions are in Nebraska, with 12.7 per cent. above average, and Iowa with 7.6 per cent above average. Lowest conditions are in California with 20.9 per cent. below, Georgia, with 14.3, South Carolina, with 12.9 per cent. below average conditions.

The general or composite condition of all growing crops combined, by States, on June 1, was as follows, 100 representing average (not normal) conditions:

Average for the entire United States 98.9.

The condition of various crops compared with their average condition (not normal) on June 1, was as follows:

Raspberries, 105; blackberries, 104; Winter wheat, 103.5; alfalfa, 102.5; cantaloupes 102.4; hemp, 101.6; apples, 101.5; lima beans, 100.4; onions, 100.1; all hay, 100.1.

The condition of blue grass for seed in Kentucky on June 1st is estimated as about 60 per cent. of the seven-year average.

The acreage of clover for hay is estimated as about 17.2 per cent. larger than last year, or about 2 per cent. larger than two years ago.

It is true that women more frequently suffer from kidney trouble than men. It is also true they suffer more intensely, owing to their more sensitive organism. Katherine L. Norton, New Bedford, Mass., says: "I had a terrible pain across my back, with a burning and scalding feeling. I took Foley Kidney Pills as advised, with results certain and sure. The pain and burning feeling left me, I felt toned up and invigorated. I am glad to recommend Foley Kidney Pills." They are tonic in action, quick in results.—Robt. R. Bellamy.

HEALTH OFFICE POLITICS

Dr. Stiles Makes Vigorous Plea for Harmony in Public Health Efforts—Address Before State Health Association

(Special Star Telegram.)

Morehead City, N. C., June 16.—One of the features of the meeting today of the State Health Officers' Association was a paper by Dr. Chas. W. Stiles, surgeon in charge of the Marine Hospital, of Wilmington, read this afternoon.

Dr. Stiles discussed the influence of what he termed "local health politics" on State-wide development of public health and the State-wide reduction of the death rate. The paper was heard with deep interest because of the prominence of Dr. Stiles in the scientific world. He spoke not as a Federal official but as a citizen of North Carolina, and pleaded for harmony, the burying of differences and the hearty co-operation of all, not only because it is a matter of life and death, but because the opposition to health officials in several instances cited, is giving the State at large a big black eye. Dr. Stiles said in part:

"The present paper does not deal with the origin of certain facts, but taking the facts as existing, it invites attention to an interesting result. It is written not in my capacity as a Federal officer, but as a resident of the State of North Carolina.

"Several cities and counties in this State have awakened, with commendable energy, to the fact that their death rates have been unnecessarily high and there has developed a desire among many of their citizens to do all within their power to protect human life within the city or county borders. Movements to this end have been instituted, but harmony has not been prominently present either in the local governing bodies or among the citizens; in fact, a condition has arisen that might be referred to as 'Local Health Politics' and much energy that might well have been directed toward reducing the death rate of the women and children of the locality has been wasted in fractional squabbles, personal invective, and nursing sore feelings.

"It is not my purpose to enter into any discussion of the merits or of the demerits in the premises, for as a Federal officer I must carefully avoid the appearance of attempting to influence local elections or of taking sides in local fractional differences of opinion. But I am persuaded that you will not deny me the right and the duty as a legal resident of this State, to defend the good name of the State when I find this in jeopardy in respect to any particular point.

"Several years ago Durham elected a certain man as health officer. This official started in to clean up the city—and any of us who had been there certainly knew that this task was of sufficient magnitude to occupy his entire time for some weeks and that it was sufficiently important to justify his being left free to do that work rather than to use his time in building political fences—so to speak. You all know what happened: Doctor Mann's life was almost a burden because of the constant fight that was made against him in his efforts to decrease the daily diet of human excreta consumed by his fellow citizens, and he served but a relatively short time as Durham's health officer.

"Not long ago, also, Wake county endeavored to appoint a health officer who should do what he could to protect the lives of the women and children against disease. You recall the general history of the incident. A self-governing county proved itself unable to govern itself. In this particular incident and in accord with the law, a State official had to step in and settle certain local questions.

"About two years ago, Wilmington elected a health officer and one might almost say that ever since then fight-

THE PROGRESS EDITION

Some Kind Expressions from Our Brethren of the Press

Salisbury Post: "The Progress Issue of the Wilmington Star of Tuesday last was a dandy."

Lauringburg Exchange: "The Morning Star of Wilmington, is to be congratulated for the handsome industrial edition of that paper, which came to us on Tuesday."

WinstonSalem Sentinel: "That industrial edition issued by the Wilmingtar Star was indeed highly creditable to that enterprising newspaper. It was exceedingly attractive and contained much valuable matter."

Rocky Mount Telegram: "The Morning Star of Wilmington, has recently issued a creditable industrial edition of that city. The edition is nicely gotten up and is a good advertisement for the City by the Sea."

Lumberton Robesonian: "The Wilmington Star published Tuesday a great 'Progress and Prosperity' edition of 40 pages—five sections of eight pages each—in addition to the usual eight-page paper. These 40 pages are chock full of interesting and valuable information about Wilmington and its environs and make a splendid advertisement for that city."

Camden (S. C.) Chronicle: "In writing of its recent forty-page industrial edition the Wilmington (N. C.) Star attributes its success largely to the linotype operators in The Star shop. Mr. "Dick" Barfield, a Camden boy, is one of the operators, and The Star speaks very highly of him personally—which goes to show that "Dick" is making good at the keyboard."

Maxton Scottish Chief: "Wilmington, Southport and that section got a great advertisement Tuesday through the enterprising management of The Star. A 40-page Progressive and Industrial edition, in addition to the regular eight-page section was sent out setting forth the progress made, the advantages and opportunities that are opening up to that section. It was a great paper and Wilmington ought to rally to the support of The Star, the city's great asset."

CAPT. HILL QUARTERMASTER

Appointed to Second Regiment Position by Col. Rodman

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., June 16.—Capt. A. L. C. Hill, of this city, has been appointed by Col. Wiley C. Rodman, commanding the Second North Carolina Infantry, to be the regimental quartermaster on his staff. The office carries the rank of captain. Captain Hill stands high in militia circles in North Carolina, and has had excellent mention for his capability. He has been the commanding officer of Company B, of the Second Regiment, for several years, and was detailed on one occasion to act as regimental quartermaster. He was among the officers sent from this State to the maneuver camp at San Antonio. Captain Hill saw service in the war with Spain, and was stationed with one of the Virginia regiments in the vicinity of Havana.

Superior Court for the trial of civil cases came to an end Saturday night at the conclusion of the first week of a two weeks' session, so that Judge M. H. Justice, of Rutherfordton, might take a vacation which he would not otherwise have. So much business at courts in various counties awaited the esteemed jurist that he would not have a holiday until the Fall or Winter, so the Kinston bar, with whom he is decidedly popular, having presided at terms here frequently in recent years, passed a resolution without a dissenting vote to dispense with the second week of the court.

BANK OF DUPLIN ENLARGING

Progressive Step Taken by Wallace Institution

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wallace, N. C., June 16.—The Bank of Duplin is enlarging its banking rooms and making improvements on its bank building, a sure sign of progress which is hailed with pleasure by the town. Wallace is growing all along the line.

During the week the town sent two delegates to the Christian Endeavor Convention at Raleigh, Messrs. A. L. Cavenaugh and B. F. Pearsall, Jr., and one to the Grand Lodge of Pythians at Winston-Salem, Mr. DeLeon Wells. Both delegations report interesting meetings.

Miss Susie Boney entertained a number of friends in honor of Miss Mary Barnwell, of Greenville, and Mr. Allan Powers, of Hamlet, N. C. All were entertained royally from 8:30 until 11 P. M., by guessing contests. The prize was awarded to Miss Madge Southerland and Miss Anna Clement for being the best guessers.

H. C. CURTIS TAKES CHARGE

Succeeds R. W. Davis as Postmaster at Southport

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., June 16.—This morning, early, Southport's new postmaster, Mr. Howard C. Curtis, entered upon his duties. For the present there will be no changes in the office force. Miss Florence Price, who is most efficient as assistant to the postmaster, and Miss Edna Davis, another very capable assistant, will be continued.

Mr. Robert W. Davis, who for 18 years, lacking a few days, retires from the postmastership, has proven most worthy of the office, giving a service to the public beyond the average, in fact, a "kick" is a rarity. He takes with him the highest praise for his administration of the office, which he now leaves. And this regardless of any politics.

HOW TO GET FAT.

Use Samose, Says Druggist J. Hicks Bunting and Put on Good Flesh.

The almost universal interest in physical culture is the best evidence that can be offered as to the need of a simple and scientific method of making thin people fat, increasing strength and restoring health.

Athletics, when carried to an extreme, often result in straining the vital organs. How much better it would be for the average person to regain health, strength and flesh by using Samose. This flesh forming food is assimilated as soon as it enters the stomach; it helps the organs to assimilate the food and extract the flesh forming elements; it builds up the muscles and rounds out the limbs into shapely plumpness.

Samose has been so successful in making thin people fat and restoring the weak and run down to strength and health that J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., the popular druggists, sell it under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not benefit.

ONLY PROPER REVENGE

REBUKING THE PRESUMPTION OF THE MARRIED WOMAN.

Too Many Seek to Probe Into the Heart Secrets of Their Less Fortunate Sisters, and Deserve Severe Treatment.

A good many inferences might be made about her own experience in preserving the tender passion with a live husband. To write so feelingly of the preservative qualities of a dead lover naturally suggests that a living spouse gave her cause to do some cobbling at the run-down heels of sentiment. But—that did not excuse her impertinence! Nothing gave her the right in the sight of God, man or other women; nothing excused her.

A cowboy with a record for men he had killed finally met his match. His admiring friends were "stumped" to find an epitaph to put upon the monument they builded him. At last they had graven there in chaste and forceful simplicity, "He done his durnedest." I, too, faltering before the futility of language as a means of expressing just what the married woman does who asks the impertinent question, say, "She does—" It isn't necessary to repeat the quotation.

Why, the married woman who does it is a social ghoul cavorting heedlessly, wantonly, cruelly, hideously on the grave of dead hopes, gouging her question into the body of lost love! Before she married she was like other women thoroughfarers. Afterward, seated in the matrimonial automobile, she dashes headlong among the ones who still walk and knocks the very breath out of them. Apparently, she thinks the marriage machine is meant to send single pedestrians scurrying and dodging. Anyway, that's the use she makes of it.

If married women forget how it feels to be unmarried and asked why, here is telling them! It feels painful and lonely and sad. It takes sweetness and courage and an enormous amount of the good, garden variety of sense to bear up gracefully. And when idle or thoughtless curiosity goes digging and snagging and punching about in the sore and sacred places of the heart, the suffering and the rage it creates is too awful to mention.

What really ought to happen to these inquiring matrons is this: When one asks a maid the question, the maid should scare her into galloping hysterics by looking meaningly at her one and only husband and observing, con expressione—"The man I love is married!"

The matron would THINK. Indeed, she would be thinking even while she hurriedly pleaded an engagement and piloted her husband out of the maid's dangerous neighborhood. Possibly that is all that is needed—just to set the married interrogators thinking—to make them realize the enormity of their offense. Surely the utter violation of good taste, the inexcusable intrusion into personal affairs, the suffering they carelessly create must make them pause.

If a wife asks the REASON and a maid insinuates that SHE is IT, she levels the popgun of her impertiment inquiry full in the face of another spinster. And every matron made to think—and feel a little wholesome fear, perhaps—will mean one less maid, at least, to be grilled on the hot plate of the married woman's curiosity.

If every pretty and attractive unmarried woman would follow out this suggestion a reformation would be effected that would enable us to preserve the sacredness of our memories or our pride or—our reputations! It's worth trying!—New York Press.

What It Comes To.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley told in an address in Washington a story apropos of food adulteration.

"There was a man," he said, "who manufactured so-called silver spoons. A dealer bought largely from him, but was always clamoring for a lower price.

"'But I can't lower the price,' the manufacturer would say, 'unless I put in more lead.'

"'All right—more lead, by all means.' This the dealer reply.

"The other week the dealer wired that he would take an enormous consignment of spoons if the price were cut a further ten per cent.

"'I can't cut the price another penny,' the manufacturer wired back.

"'Put in more lead,' wired the dealer.

"'Impossible,' was the manufacturer's reply. 'Last lot I shipped you were all lead.'"

No Change.

They had parted years ago. Now, in the deepening shadows of Scotland's twilight, they met again.

"Here be the old stile, Annie," he said.

"Aye; and here be our initials that you carved, John," she replied.

The ensuing silence was only broken by the buzzing of an aviator overhead.

Honey-laden memories thrilled through the twilight and flushed their glowing cheeks.

"Ah, Annie," exclaimed John, suddenly seizing her fair, slim hand, "ye're jist as beautiful as ye ever were, an' I hae never forgotten ye, my bonnie lass!"

"And ye, John," she cried, while her blue een moistened tremulously, "are jist as big a leear as ever, an' I believe ye jist the same!"

COTTON SHOWS ACTIVITY

Prices Advance Sharply With New High Ground Made in New Crop Months—Opening Steady at An Advance

New York, June 16.—The cotton market was not more than moderately active today, but prices advanced sharply with new crop months making new high ground for the season and with the close steady at a net gain of 17 to 24 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 4 to 8 points in response to higher cables. There was some local selling at the start on reports of generally good weather over Sunday, and indications for continued clear conditions with higher temperatures in the belt for the next day or two at any rate. Offerings, however, were very readily taken by a scattered demand which seemed to include considerable fresh buying for long account as well as covering of shorts. Liverpool seemed to be selling near months here, and there were moderate offerings from Memphis during the early trading, but the good weather reports seem to be accompanied by no general Southern selling movement, and as soon as the market began to advance, some of the local sellers turned for cover.

The crop report of a prominent New Orleans authority indicating an increase of not over three per cent in acreage and rather a spotted condition, seemed somewhat disappointing from a bearish standpoint, and there were rumors that a local authority would issue a report tomorrow indicating that the crop had made very little improvement since the compilation of the June bureau. These features doubtless contributed to the buying movement in connection with reports of a good domestic trade in cotton goods and the bullish influence of Saturday's supply and distribution figures. Around 11.15 for October there was enough realizing to cause reactions of four to five points during the middle of the afternoon, but prices firmed up again on renewed covering and bull support, with the active months selling 18 to 26 points net higher in the late trading, and closing within two or three points of the best. Private cables attributed the steadiness of Liverpool to a continued good spot demand.

New York, June 16.—Spot cotton closed steady. Middling uplands, 12.35; do. gulf, 12.60; sales, 2,300 bales.

Cotton futures closed steady.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET

New York, June 16.—The hot spell started an active trade in sheer cottons today. The new business is confined within a limited forward position. Jobbers are buying brown and bleached domestic in moderate quantities. Yarns are much steadier. There is a good demand coming forward for dress goods such as velours, eponge and ducks.

STOCKS LACK RESILIENCY

Attacks on Railroad Lists Force Material Recessions—The Bulls Active in Early Trading—Fundamental Conditions

New York, June 16.—In spite of the resolute advance of stocks late last week, and the evidences of increased buying power, the market today showed none of its recent resiliency. There was some difference of opinion in, whether the bouyant upturn was mostly a temporary reaction from the acute depression which preceded it, or whether it heralded returning confidence and a betterment in fundamental conditions.

On the assumption that the rise would proceed further, bull traders bid up the list in the early trading. But it was evident that outside buying had diminished, and that the market was receiving little support aside from that given by the professional element. Short selling was resumed, and the market turned downward.

The decline was accelerated by the interpretation placed by the Street upon the Supreme Court's decisions in several rate cases, the most important of which—the Missouri case—followed closely the lines of the Minnesota case. With the decisions against the railroads in a majority of the cases traders attacked the railroad list, and succeeded in forcing material recessions.

Union Pacific was under pressure, and selling apparently was influenced by gossip to the effect that the attorney general would oppose any plan for dissolution of the Harriman system which did not dispose of Central Pacific. Canadian Pacific was weak, but there was no evidence of renewed selling of this stock for foreign account. London traded in about 20,000 shares here, mostly purchases.

Bonds were heavy. Total sales, par value $1,637,000.

U. S. 3s registered declined 3-8 and Panama 3s coupon advanced 1-8c on call.

Total sales were 341,000 including American Tobacco 500; A. C. L., 300; C. & O., 2,000; Lehigh Valley, 6,100; L. & N., 600; N. & W., 1,400; S. A. L., 100; Southern Railway, 5,000; Tennessee Copper, 2,300; Union Pacific, 30,500; United States Steel, 69,500; V. C. C., 200.

ing for or against him has been the chief occupation of a goodly number of the residents of that city. Recently New Hanover county has elected this same man, Doctor Nesbitt, as full-time county health officer, and since his recent election arguments for or against Nesbitt have certainly been the chief topic of conversation in that locality.

"Permit me to emphasize the point, gentlemen, that I am not taking sides in the question whether or not Mann, McCullers and Nesbitt, are individually or collectively knaves, asses, incompetent, or great men. I am placing before you the facts that they were elected in accordance with law to fulfill certain duties as health officers and that much of their time that rightly belonged to the protection of the lives of the women and children of their respective localities has been used, by force or circumstances, to answering objections, criticisms and attack. If you have these two points clearly in your mind, permit me to pass to the next thought in my paper.

"About two weeks ago, I received from one of the best known men in this State—not a physician, by the way—a letter in which he told me that the city in which he lived was thinking of putting in a full-time health officer and he asked whether I could recommend a man for the place. I replied immediately to the general effect that at the moment I had no one especially in mind but I would think over the matter, that in a few days I would be in Washington, D. C., and New York, and coming into contact with other men interested in public health matters, I would see who was available, and would write him later.

"Upon my taking up subject with a number of men, this is the reply I recived, in substance:

"'In view of the treatment North Carolina gives to any local health officer who tries to do his duty, as indicated by the treatment accorded to Mann, by Durham; to McCullers, by Wake county, and to Nesbitt, by Wilmington, we do not care to advise any men to take a position as local health officer in that State.'

"Thus, gentlemen, you see that the treatment accorded to health officers in this State is becoming a matter of comment and that factional differences in three counties are giving to the State at large a dark black and blue spot surrounding the eye.

"In reflecting over the situation, the following thoughts force themselves forward in my mind:

"If any city or county hopes to have a health officer who is thoroughly acceptable to every lawyer, preacher, physician, grocer, banker, property-owner, real estate agent, and in addition to every ownerless dog in town, that city will either be so clean that there will be nothing for the health officer to do, or it will be a city whose inhabitants are a mass of consummate idiots. Ergo, there will always be differences of opinion in any earthly city, whose inhabitants are rational mortals, in regard to the principles, policies, and personality of any health officer who is worth the price of a hair cut.

"Going out from this premise, it is clear that if there is only one government in a city, both sides to the controversy cannot have their own way as to whether Doctor Tweedledee or Doctor Tweedledum is elected. Assuming now that Dr. Tweedledee receives 50.1 per cent of the votes and Doctor Tweedledum received 49.9 per cent, or assuming that the vote stands 50.1 per cent for Doctor Tweedledee and 49.9 per cent against him, the point arises, What should the 49.9 per cent—the minority—do? Should they continue the pre-election fight, until they wear out the health of Dr. Tweedledee and the patience of his supporters, or should they accept the American principle that the majority rules?

"To my mind the answer to the question depends entirely upon the answer to another question, namely, in this matter, is their chief concern a desire to conserve human life—especially the lives of our North Carolina women and children—and a desire not to bring the name of our State into disrepute, or are their personal, political or professional preferences of greater importance than the health and lives of their wives and children? In other words, which would they prefer to bury, their personal preferences or their wives and children? To reduce the subject to this question may sound harsh, but it is thoroughly logical and thoroughly kind, on this account. Every hour of a health officer's time and every particle of his mental and physical strength that are taken away from his legitimate duties as health officer and turned to public health politics means robbing the women and children of a community of that much protection to their health and life, and who knows whether it may not be exactly that distraction of the health officer that may cause or permit an unsanitary condition to continue that will result in the death of your or my wife or child?

"Gentlemen, as a legal resident and as an actual resident of this State, I call upon you as American men, men to whom the lives of women and children are dearer than the lives of self, let us have an end to public health politics; let us recognize that the majority, not the minority rules; let us help rather than impede the work of the health officer, whether he be Tweedledee or Tweedledum, and even if he be our bitterest personal enemy and, in our opinion, a scoundrel—for who would refuse to pull an oar in a boat even with a murderer if that boat were trying to make for a woman or a child sinking in mid-stream? Gentlemen, a health officer who differs with us in principles, practices and politics, can save more human life with our aid than without it, and if he is the legally elected health officer it is our duty—in justice to our families, to support him and to work with him.

"The man or the organization who or which opposes the work of any health officer in this State, for any reason whatsoever, is doing an injustice to your wife and to my wife, to your daughters and to my daughters, and if (by reason of distracting the attention of any legally elected health officer, be that health officer knave, ass, incompetent or phenomenon), your wife or my wife, your child or my child, contracts typhoid fever or some other infectious disease, and dies as a result, the man or the organization that caused the distraction which was responsible for the occurrence will be morally responsible for the death that results.

"Further, the men or the organizations who continue pre-election differences beyond the election day are assuming the tremendous responsibility of warning away from North Carolina welltrained health officers, in face of the fact that the supply is not equal to the demand.

"In the name of all the sick of the State of North Carolina, let us have an end to discord, let us all shake hands, kiss and make up, pull together and co-operate, bury our differences of opinion instead of our children, and protect the good name of the State from further reflections such as I have brought to your attention. Durham, Raleigh and Wilmington public health squabbles have assumed more than a local aspect and if such things go on much longer they will not only result in keeping the better class of men out of public health work, but will be a great impediment to a State-wide reduction of the death rate.

"In the name of Doctor Rankin's vital statistics, Doctor Ferrell's hookworms, and Dr. Booker's flies, let us get together and have harmony."

ONE ON THE TOWN PROBER

Mrs. Hill's Well-Laid Plans Did Not Afford Her the Satisfaction She Expected.

The neighbors were in an uproar. Miss Joy, the beautiful and charming social light, had suddenly crawled into her shell. Not only had she absented herself from dinners, receptions, and bridges, but she had not even appeared on the streets. Inquiries at her home disproved the general opinion that she was ill. The mystery deepened, Miss Joy had simply became a recluse.

"I can't understand it," said one of the more curious. "She has never gone to the woods like this before. She doesn't even drive any more."

"Probably there is something awful behind it," replied another, with a glimmer of keen enjoyment in her eyes.

Still the belle failed to put in her appearance. Gossip became intense, until finally Mrs. Hill, the town-prober, decided with grim determination to find out the real cause of the retirement. She outlined her plans to her friends with zest.

"I will issue invitations to a tea tomorrow afternoon and will send one to Miss Joy Later I will call her over the telephone, insisting that she attend. She will refuse, and then I shall demand to know the reason."

"A perfect idea!" assented the others in chorus.

"Of course, I won't have the tea," continued Mrs. Hill. "That will be understood among all of us."

"Oh, certainly," came the disappointed response. "We only want to find out the truth."

The invitations were issued, and Mrs. Hill immediately opened telephonic mommunication.

"Helo, is this Miss Joy?" she began.

"Yes."

"This is Mrs. Hill. I supposed you received my invitation to the tea? Now, I won't take any excuse. You must come."

"No need of excuse," sweetly chirped Miss Joy. "I shall be more than delighted to be present."

Reward of the Politician.

When Ollie James, now junior United States senator from Kentucky, first broke into politics in his native county of Crittenden he had occasion to try a case before a rural magistrate. When the trial was ended, says the Saturday Evening Post, the magistrate invited the young lawyer to go home to dinner with him. As they sat down at the table the old man said:

"Ollie, it pains me mightily to see you messin' in with politics."

"Why so?" inquired James.

"Ollie, my son," said the magistrate, "politics ain't a fittin' pursuit for any young man. Look at me! I started in politics when I was young and hopeful, jest like you are now. I have held all the positions of trust in the gift of the people of my home district—I have been school trustee, road supervisor and constable, and justice of the peace. But now, as an old man, all I've got to show for my years of ceaseless political activity is a lot of warm enemies and cold friends."

Fine Remedy For Eczema

Also for Salt Rheum, Tetter, Psoriasis, Lupus, and All Skin Afflictions.

Even a Microscope Won't Find a Blemish After S. S. S. Gets Through.

All skin troubles should be attacked from within by giving the blood circulation a good daily bath. This is accomplished with S. S. S., the best known and most highly recommended blood purifier ever discovered. Its action is very rapid. Its vegetable nature is such that it naturally goes right into the blood, saturates the entire circulation, bathes the tissues with an influence that enables the skin to heal quickly. The action of S. S. S. is that of an antidote, and this fact has been demonstrated time and time again in the most severe forms of weeping eczema.

Its influence in the tissues where the tiny arteries transfer the red blood for the worn out blood to the veins is quite remarkable and goes on constantly with every tick of the clock—the beat of the heart.

And new skin is thus caused to form while the germs of irritating influences that cause eczema are scattered and their harmful nature entirely suspended.

S. S. S. has a wonderful tonic influence in the blood because it contains no "dope," is not a "physic," is entirely free of any mineral drugs or any other drugs except the remarkable medicinal effect of the pure vegetable products of which it is made.

Few people realize how harmful are many of the strong, crude ointments that used to be in favor before they learned that S. S. S. is safe, speedy and sure. Ask at any drug store for a bottle of S. S. S. Give it a good trial and you will soon see a decided improvement in any form of skin trouble. Write to The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for special free advice on eczema and any other form of skin or blood trouble.
